

WASHINGTON—The President has the anti-lynching bill to thank for the Senate Agriculture Committee's sudden burst of speed in rushing out a farm measure.

He could have prodded committee chairman "Cotton Ed" Smith until the cows came home and the mellifluous South Carolinian would have taken his own sweet time. Smith had told newsmen it would be weeks later before his committee would have the farm bill ready.

But two days later, when the backers of the anti-lynching measure had forced it before the Senate, "Cotton Ed" was warbling a different tune.

"We'll have a bill out by next Monday," he announced, "even if it consists of nothing more than a blank piece of paper with a number. We can work out the details on the floor."

Reason for this abrupt change was a barrage of outcries from Southern colleagues that Smith's delay on the farm bill was playing squarely into the hands of the anti-lynching bloc.

Under the agreement made at the close of last session, the farm bill takes precedence over all other legislation. The minute it reaches the floor of the Senate everything else, including the anti-lynch act, returns to the shelf.

So "Cotton Ed's" colleagues put the heat on, reminding him that he was up for re-election next year, that his opponents would make the most of his farm bill delay and consequent indirect aid to the anti-lynching act.

"Cotton Ed" is no dumbbell politically. He got this in a flash.

Sick Man

Smith faces a very tough battle in South Carolina to hold his seat. Young Governor Olin Johnston is after his scalp and is accusing "Cotton Ed" of being an enemy of the farmer. He cites as proof the

PLANT IS HELD FOR SECOND DAY BY SIT-DOWNERS

Detroit, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Sit-down strikers held the Bunday Tubing Co. plant today for the second day, demanding sole bargaining rights for the United Automobile Workers of America, wage increases, seniority rights and abolition of piecework.

The Briggs Manufacturing Co. closed a division of its Highland Park plant and sent 400 workmen home after group of United Automobile Workers union members protested the discharge of a shop steward.

Another 500 U. A. W. members were in the second day of a strike at the Wilcox-Rich automotive parts division of the Eaton Manufacturing Co. at Saginaw, Mich. They were reported seeking a closed shop.

Fifty teletype operators, mostly women members of the C. I. O.-affiliated American Radio Telegraphers association, began a strike at the main office of the Postal Telegraph Co. in Detroit, protesting discharge of an operator. Company officials said service was unimpaired.

TWO WOUNDED AS EFFORT IS MADE TO ROB THEATRE

Chicago, Nov. 23.—(AP)—While many patrons looked on, a theatre doorman and a traffic policeman were wounded, the former seriously, by a gunman who attempted to hold up the cashier of a loop movie last night.

Sheldon Shoreen, 24-year-old doorman of the State-Lake theatre, was shot in the back after he struck the robber, who had demanded money from Miss Margaret Fisher, the cashier.

The shot and patrons' cries for help brought Policeman John Mannix, who was directing traffic at a nearby intersection. As he ran toward the theatre and called on the gunman to surrender, the latter fired. The bullet grazed the policeman's forehead, inflicting a minor wound.

The robber eluded 25 police squads who surrounded the district.

California Standard Oil President Dies Aboard Ocean Liner

San Francisco, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Kenneth R. Kingsbury, 61, president of Standard Oil of California, died of a heart attack last night on a vacation cruise to Havana aboard the liner Santa Paula.

The oil company executive dropped dead while dressing for dinner as the liner was passing through Panama Canal. A coroner's jury at Colon decided he died of a heart attack.

PRIZE WINNERS IN ADD CONTEST ARE ANNOUNCED

Solution to Missing Letter Puzzle Swamp Turkey Editor

To save prize winners in the missing letter contest purchasing fowl for their Thanksgiving dinner and to give our rural readers the information before the holiday, the "Thanksgiving Contest" editor of The Telegraph stayed up all night and worked hard into the morning—thereby acquiring a full grown headache—judging the hundreds of solutions submitted and is able to announce the winners in this issue as follows:

First prize, turkey—Miss Goldie Gignous, 706 First street, Dixon.

Second prizes, geese—Mrs. Theresa F. Long, Sterling and Miss Hope Hinds, 309 Grant avenue.

Third prizes, chickens—Mrs. Edward Mensch, 101 E. Dixon; Miss Jeanne Bovey, 103 E. Fellows St.; Mrs. Howard Murphy, 522 Dixon avenue.

From Many Towns

Solutions were submitted from every town in the Dixon trade area from Sterling to Rochelle and from Byron to Mendota. Many showed painstaking care in their arrangement and neatness and the selection of the winners was on this basis, as scores of the solutions were correct.

The contest showed how widely and thoroughly The Telegraph is read in the thousands of homes into which it goes and also showed deep interest by all these readers.

Some of the more attractive of the solutions submitted have been placed on display in the window at the Evening Telegraph office, while the correct answers to the missing letters are shown on page 2 of this issue of The Telegraph.

Prophetstown Man Arrested For Drunk Driving, Accident

State Highway Officers Rex Flach and Edward Mahan, placed Simon Stingley of Prophetstown in the Sterling city jail last night about 9:30, following their investigation of an automobile wreck at McCue's corner west of Sterling. Stingley is said to have been driving west from Sterling and at the intersection of the two highways at McCue's corner, crashed into a car driven by Fred Heitach of Fairbault, Minn., who was enroute to Washington, D. C. to visit relatives over the holidays.

Heitach was driving east, the officers stated, and had stopped at the junction of the two highways, and had started his car again, when the machine Stingley was driving crashed into his car. Charges of operating an automobile while in an intoxicated condition while in an intoxicated condition, the officers stated. Both cars were considerably damaged but the drivers sustained only minor injuries.

Ethel Barrymore Belies Most Noted Of Curtain Lines

New York, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Ethel Barrymore walked onto the stage of the Guild theatre last night, and thereby belied the most famous of all her curtain lines. That was her final speech of the play, "Sunday" years ago when she said, as the curtain fell, "That's all there is. There isn't any more."

Last night she returned to Broadway in the leading role of Sidney Howard's new play, "The Ghost of Yankee Doodle," after announcing a year ago she was finished with acting.

Serious Charges Mount Carroll, Ill., Nov. 23

Henry Grove, 72, former chief of police at Lanark, Ill., was indicted on four counts by the Carroll county grand jury today on charges of rape and taking indecent liberties involving two girls, 13 and 14 years old. He was held on bonds totalling $14,000.

Palmyra Farmer Chooses Jail for 30 Days in Lieu of Paying a Fine

Francis O'Rourke, Palmyra township farmer, was given his preference of paying a fine of $100 and costs or going to jail for 30 days, when he appeared before Judge Harry Ludens in the county court this morning, on a charge of operating a motor vehicle while in an intoxicated condition.

O'Rourke decided that he could not pay the fine and subsequently returned to jail. Sergeant Harry Strook of the state highway police force of Freeport arrested O'Rourke Saturday evening about two miles north of Dixon on U. S. route 52 and filed the complaint in the county court.

Judge Ludens disallowed the claim of Mrs. Harriett Levings, filed

Too Accurate

Peoria, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Policeman Martin Scherer was a bit skeptical when E. Baxter Williams, 21, manager of an optical company, dashed into headquarters and told of being robbed.

Williams made the mistake of reporting the robbery too accurately.

Scherer, posing as another policeman, later called on Williams at the store and asked for complete details of the holdup. When the young man told a different story Scherer took him before Chief Leo F. Kamis.

Then, Kamis said, Williams admitted the robbery story and a $10,000 ransom and kidnap threat he had written to himself November 7 were hoaxes.

BUSINESSMAN IS HELD FOR DEATH OF SERVANT GIRL

Socorro, N. M., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The body of Pretty Rose Garcia, 19-year-old servant girl, was found in a shallow, sand-filled grave today and District Attorney John Baron Burg announced he was holding a Socorro businessman for questioning. The girl had been missing two days.

Sheriff Frank Knobloch said she had been mutilated with a pen knife, shot through the left breast and apparently attacked.

Burg said he was holding W. B. Cassidy, manager of a local laundry, for questioning. Cassidy, in whose home the girl had been employed, Burg said, gave him the information which led to discovery of the grave 17 miles north of here.

The district attorney said Cassidy declared the girl had killed herself and that he had placed her body in the shallow grave, under a two-inch covering of loose sand.

A coroner's jury, summoned at the scene, returned a verdict that the girl, daughter of Guadalupe Garcia, widely-known rancher near here, died "from a gunshot wound inflicted by an unknown person."

Burg indicated another jury session would be called.

Cassidy is married and the father of several children.

Palmyra Woman Is Cut, Bruised In Auto Accident

Mrs. Ray E. Gilbert, who resides in Palmyra township, northeast of the Mound corners, sustained painful cuts about the face and body bruises in an automobile accident yesterday afternoon about 4 o'clock while en route from her home to the Mound school for her children, when her car swerved from the road and crashed into a large tree.

She was taken to the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital in this city where her injuries were dressed. The front end of the car was badly damaged and it was towed to the Gilbert home. The cause of the accident was not known but it was believed that a part of the steering gear failed.

Former Amboy Man Dies In Seattle

M. J. Hogan of 526 Jackson avenue has received a letter telling of the recent death in Seattle, Wash., of John W. Doyle, formerly of Amboy, for many years connected with the Jacobs Bridge Co., of that city. The letter contained no further details and did not give the date of Mr. Doyle's passing. The deceased, who assisted in the building of the Grand Detour bridge and many other structures in this part of the state, went to Seattle about 35 years ago.

Quezon Recovering From Appendicitis Operation Today

Manila, Nov. 23.—(AP)—President Manuel Quezon was stricken with appendicitis today but doctors described his condition as "good" after an emergency operation.

The Independence Advocate was removed to Philippine general hospital and Drs. Januario Estrada and Antonio Vasquez operated.

YULE LIGHTING SYSTEM FUNDS ARE SWELLING

Opening Night Might Be December 1, City Co-operating

Dixon's Christmas street-lighting and decorations will probably be turned on Wednesday, December 1, it was announced at the Chamber of Commerce offices this morning.

Committees working in securing funds for the decorations report one hundred percent cooperation by all the merchants, and optimism over the success of the decorations was heightened by the cooperation of the city which will pay for the installation of the lights and also the electricity. The city is also aiding materially by supervising the decoration of the Dixon arch and the placing of colored lights in the sockets.

Committees working the various blocks in groups of three include R. W. Bogue, Grover Wilhelm, Robert Sterling, H. V. Massey, Frank Kreim, John Dale, N. H. Kaiserman, C. C. Hintz, Chester Barriag, Charles Miller, Ed. Vaile, Victor Eichler, C. A. Mellett, W. H. Ware, Will Cahill.

A Christmas opening day will be held on the day the lights are turned on and stores will unveil their windows at that time for the holiday trade. The lights will be arranged in festoons across the streets this year instead of being strung along the sidewalks between the lamp posts as has been done in the past.

MANDETERMINED TO SIT OUT HIS JAIL SENTENCE

New Albany, Ind., Nov. 23.—(AP)—A 48-year-old father, "sitting out" a $15 fine at the rate of $1 a day in a jail cell, reiterated today a determination to keep three of his nine children out of school rather than expose them to the dangers of walking along a highway.

"I'll be damned if I'll send them to school until they bring a bus up to our door," Harry Farnsley, a paperhanger, told a jail attendant.

Brought into juvenile court, Farnsley told Judge John M. Paris the children were forced to walk one-half mile along U. S. highway 150 near here to a point where a bus from the Mt. Tabor consolidated school picked them up. He charged automobile and truck traffic was a menace to their lives.

The judge was unmoved. He fined Farnsley $5 and costs, or $15, and when the defendant said he would not pay the fine, the judge sent him to jail.

PREDICTS FUTURE OF RIVER VALLEY AT ANNUAL MEET

St. Louis, Nov. 23.—(AP)—A day when the Father of Waters will flow with "sinuous, easy curves" in a "fairly direct alignment" from Cape Girardeau, Mo., to the Gulf, traversing an empire made rich beyond the fondest dreams of its present residents, was pictured today by Maj. Gen. Julian L. Schley, chief of the U. S. army engineers.

In an address before the annual convention of the Mississippi Valley association, General Schley said "people of vision" saw for the lower Mississippi valley in the future:

"A greatly increased population and a greatly increased development, with every acre needed for agriculture—including the present backwater swamps—producing its maximum crop.

"They visualize the river . . . carrying the maximum amount of water at the lowest possible stages; the banks paved . . . with our new asphalt so that there is no caving of the soil and levees into the river."

Federal Agents Arrest Pair For Extortion Effort

Washington, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The federal bureau of investigation announced today federal agents had arrested John E. Harrison, 16, and Tom Farley, 22, at Brooklyn, N. Y., on charges of attempting to extort $15,000 from Louis Duke, a Brooklyn physician.

J. Edgar Hoover said the youths were arrested last night after Harrison snatched a decoy package left in an automobile.

He was captured after a two-block chase.

The director of the federal bureau of investigation said Farley was found later in the same vicinity and that both had admitted participating in the extortion attempt.

Dr. Duke received the first of two extortion notes March 24, signed "Jim M." It demanded $15,000 and threatened the physician with death, destruction of his home and other acts of violence.

His Sister's Beautiful Eyes Drive Officer to Killing Her and Self

Steadily Failing Sight Believed Cause of Crime

London, Nov. 23.—(AP)—A former army officer, maddened by the gathering darkness of total blindness, shot his sleeping sister dead with bullets through her "beautiful eyes" today, then ended his own life by slashing his throat with a razor.

Dr. John Horace Dancy, husband of the victim of the shooting, Dr. Naomi Dancy, 49-year-old baby specialist, rushed to the bedroom scene of the tragedy and barely missed bullets fired from a pistol in the hands of Maurice Tribe, 43, the invalid former officer.

The husband's 70-year-old mother, also a physician, said Tribe, embittered by failing sight in his one good eye, shouted to his sister "you've beautiful eyes," then slew her.

Husband Escaped

The double killing occurred in the Dancy's austere red and white brick mansion in the Sylvan suburb of Richmond on the Thames.

Dr. Naomi Dancy had dressed her brother's injured knee and had lain down for a nap when he entered her room. Her husband escaped bullets aimed at him by switching off the lights when he ran into the room.

The sound of a revolver shot and screams of Mrs. Dancy aroused the household. A maid found both persons in a dying coma with an army service revolver and a razor in the room.

One published account said Tribe showed a "strangeness" when Mrs. Dancy came home. He was said to have shouted wildly:

"Naomi, you have beautiful eyes. They are glorious to look upon."

Incendiary Fire Investigation Is Continued Today

Inspector Arthur Sagana of the state fire marshal's office at Springfield and Fire chief Sam Cramer continued their investigation into the early Sunday morning incendiary fire at the Marie Wedlake home, 311 East First street.

A suspect was questioned for some time after which the investigation which progressed during yesterday was continued until a report is received from the laboratory of the state fire marshal's office on utensils said to have been found at the Wedlake home.

Inspector Sagana and Chief Cramer stated that they were satisfied that the fire was of incendiary origin and was started from the outside of the building.

Constance Worth Admits Defeat At Reconciliation

Los Angeles, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Constance Worth, who bitterly opposed George Brent's suit to annul their marriage last summer, admitted today her reconciliation efforts had failed. She asked for a divorce.

The Australian actress' complaint, filed yesterday, charged Brent with cruelty. She said they had signed a property agreement and asked no alimony.

Miss Worth, 26, and the Irish film hero were married at Tia Junna, Mexico, May 10. Brent sued for annulment in July, alleging they had not complied with Mexican marriage laws. Miss Worth fought the action, contending they wed in good faith.

Report Rebels Are Driven From Front

Hendaye, Franco-Spanish Frontier, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Spanish government infantry was reported today to have driven insurgent cavalry from a sector of the Tagus river front, near Casa Maricantilla in Toledo province.

A Barcelona communique said the infantry pushed the mounted troops back more than a half mile, inflicting considerable losses. Both sides opened fire gun fire after the engagement.

Action in the Aragon sectors of northeastern Spain yesterday was limited to artillery warfare.

Franklin Grove Woman Dies After Lengthy Illness

(Telegraph Special Service)

Franklin Grove, Nov. 23.—Mrs. John Frizzle of Franklin Grove, passed away last evening at the Katherine Shaw Betha hospital in Dixon, her death closing a long illness. Funeral services will be held Friday afternoon at 2:30 from the Lee Center Congregational church, Rev. Cox officiating. The obituary will be published later.

BLANKETS STOLEN

Eugene Ostrander of this city reported to the police about 11 o'clock last night, the loss of two new blankets from his car. Ostrander had parked his car in Commercial alley east of Galena avenue.

FATAL HEART ATTACK

John Daum, 65, of Steward, brother of Edward Daum of that village, dropped dead while at work in a corn field near Steward this afternoon, presumably the victim of a heart attack. Coroner K. B. Seger was notified of the death and went to Steward to investigate and conduct an inquest if he deems such necessary.

IN POLICE COURT

Harry Winters of this city was assessed a fine of $20 and costs by Justice W. T. Terrill in police court this morning on a charge of assault and battery. Winters was arrested last night about 9:30 by Patrolmen Glessner and Seagren after he was reported to have created a general disturbance at the home of Mrs. Anna Ladine, 208 Lincoln Way, who filed the complaint. In default of the fine he was sent to the county jail.

TAVERN BURGLARIZED

Henry Abt's tavern at 111 North Galena avenue was entered during the night and ransacked, it was reported to the police this morning and Patrolmen Jones and Bohnstiel started an investigation. About 70 pennies were taken from a cash drawer and a dice slot machine was reported to have been taken. The stock of liquor and tobacco was unmolested. The officers were of the opinion that the robbery was committed by a boy who gained entrance by breaking a glass in a window in the rear of the building.

Bulletin Of Data To Aid Engineers In Building Dams

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The University of Illinois engineering experiment station has issued a bulletin of data intended to increase safety and assurance in the construction of dams and other works on Illinois rivers.

Compiled by Prof. George W. Pickels of the college of engineering flood data and curves showing the relation between frequency and magnitude of flood flows are presented for 24 streams.

"For watersheds in Illinois over 200 square miles in area, it is believed that the forecasts of flood magnitudes for frequencies of from once in five years to once in 100 years are as reliable as can be obtained from the available flow data," Prof. Pickels said.

BROKE NECK IN LEAP

Macomb, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Marvin Bellingier, 17, of Elk City, Kas., died of a broken neck today a short time after he attempted to leap to safety when a car in which he was riding skidded on a snow-covered hill. Edward Wheeler, on whose father's farm Bellingier was employed, was injured slightly.

Thanksgiving Day Complete Holiday Here; Services Wednesday Eve

The annual community Thanksgiving service will be held at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday at Grace Evangelical church instead of on Thanksgiving Day as in previous years. The various Dixon churches will co-operate in the community observance.

The presidential proclamation will be read by Rev. W. E. Thompson, pastor of the Church of the Brethren and president of the Dixon Ministerial association. Rev. Lloyd W. Walter, pastor of the St. Paul's Lutheran church will read the scripture passage, Psalm 103. Rev. J. A. Barnett of the Christian church will offer prayer and Rev. Howard P. Buxton, pastor of the First Methodist church will deliver a sermon "What Have We to Be Thankful for in 1937?" Rev. L. E. Conner, pastor of the Church of God will give the benediction.

Music for the services will be furnished by the choir of Grace Evangelical church. Mrs. Ray Herbert will direct. The choir will present the Thanksgiving anthem.

All business will be suspended in Dixon for the day, it was decided at a meeting of the merchants division of the Chamber of Commerce this morning. Professional offices, banks, the court house, city hall and public library

Going Down

Chicago, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Prices of practically every major meat cut on the household shopping list have dropped since the peak levels were reached two or three months ago, latest figures from butcher shops indicated today.

Furthermore, some wholesale pork prices have declined as much as 30 to 48 per cent while beef cuts have declined 13 to 30 per cent from the year's highs.

According to the Institute of American Meat Packers, declines in fresh pork have been most noticeable during the last few days. In two weeks wholesale prices of fresh pork loins have dropped 10 to 23 per cent and now are from 14 to 31 per cent lower than at the beginning of October. Compared with mid-September peaks wholesale pork loins are 30 to 48 per cent lower.

HOLD MOTHER OF THREE FOR DEATH OF PRETTY RIVAL

Chicago, Nov. 23.—(AP)—A 31-year-old mother of three children was under arrest today on a charge of slaying a comely young woman whom she blamed for the loss of her husband's affections.

The victim was Miss Irene Kirslein, 26, found dying of three bullet wounds last night at a bakery where she was employed as a clerk by Rudolph Szyckowski. Held by police was the baker's wife, Ada.

Police Lieut. Jack Lahey said Mrs. Szyckowski called the police and upon their arrival at the bakery said: "There she is; I shot her. She's dead."

Assistant State's Attorney Julius Sherwin said she later told him: "When my husband hired Miss Kirslein 10 months ago she told me he was a crab and she was thinking of quitting. Later she said he was a good fellow."

"Today I walked up to Irene. 'Is it true Rudy bought you a diamond ring and a $250 accordion?' I asked her. She said it was true. Then I shot her."

"Regrets? Just one. I ought to have given it to Rudolph, too."

Violates Liquor Revenue Law Gets Leavenworth Term

St. Louis, Nov. 23.—(AP)—George L. Diehl, former East St. Louis, Ill., city detective, was sentenced to two years in Leavenworth penitentiary today by United States District Judge John Cassie Collet for conspiracy to violate internal revenue liquor laws.

Diehl was convicted last Friday by a jury which decided he had accepted money to permit a bootlegger to operate unmolested in East St. Louis. Harry Repple, who is serving a 2-year sentence for the conspiracy, testified he paid the detective $25 a month.

An attorney for Diehl filed notice of appeal immediately after sentence was pronounced. Diehl was permitted to remain at liberty on a $25,000 bond. He resigned from the East St. Louis police force after his indictment last March.

Tabby a Heroine

Danville, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Martin Johnson didn't throw the cat out the window after she walked across his face as he slept. In fact, he was grateful to her.

By waking him, the tabby informed him his combined house and store were afire. Martin got out but the building, at nearby Stringtown, was destroyed.

Motorman Blamed For Not Observing Warning Signal

Chicago, Nov. 23.—(AP)—Failure of a motorman to heed a warning signal was blamed today after a preliminary inquiry for the crash of two Illinois Central suburban trains which killed a young woman and injured 25 other passengers.

He Lets Strikers Picket In Factory

East St. Louis, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—Forty union employees of the Joseph Greenspan son pipe company were back at work today after a two-week strike, during which their employer let them come out of the cold and picket inside the plant, which did not operate.

The union's demand for a wage increase of 20 cents an hour and a 40-hour week was not met by the company. It agreed, however, to resume negotiations and to make any pay increases retroactive to Nov. 1.

DEFENSE PLEADS FOR ACQUITTAL OF REV. NEWTON

Attorney Cites Pastor As "Life-Long Friend of God"

Pittsfield, Ill., Nov. 23.—(AP)—The defense, appealing for the acquittal of the Rev. C. E. Newton, asked a circuit court jury today to think of the minister as a "life-long man of God" who could not have slain his "best friend."

Newton sat immobile as Martin Turner, one of his attorneys, began final arguments of the defense in the minister's trial on a charge of murdering Mrs. Dennis Kelly, his former Sunday school teacher at Paris, Mo.

Claims Being Tricked

In more than 10 hours of testimony, Newton denied on the witness stand he killed the 45-year-old mother and claimed he was "tricked" and threatened into making an alleged confession, one of the strongest links in the state's long chain of evidence.

The minister admitted he helped Mrs. Kelly desert her husband, a rural mail carrier, the night of last July 12, but contended he was held captive while other persons hammered the woman to death. He charged his 37-year-old foster-daughter, Myra Hanan, was one of his captors.

State's Attorney Merrill H. Johnston, who opened the final arguments to the jury of 10 farmers and two tradesmen, called the slaying of Mrs. Kelly a "terrible tragedy" in prefacing his summation of the testimony of each witness.

Newton, for 13 years pastor of the First Baptist church at Paris, gave no sign he heard Johnston's opening remarks. He sat with an elbow on the counsel table, his chin resting in the cupped palm of his hand.

"No Reasonable Doubt"

The youthful prosecutor, recounting Mrs. Kelly's flight with Newton, discovery of her body in the Mississippi river July 13, and the minister's subsequent "confession," claimed there was "no reasonable doubt" as to what had happened.

Discussing a purported motive, the state's contention Newton killed his companion to obtain $1930 she had with her, Newton's lawyer asked, "but in whose possession was the money found? It was Myra Hanan."

Miss Hanan, who had lived with Newton and his family for 14 years, testified for the state last Wednesday. She said the minister gave her the money to "keep for him," telling her it belonged to Mrs. Kelly.

When Turner completed his argument, delivered at times in oratorical tones, his associate, Daniel T. Johnson, continued for the defense, promising to "tear apart" the state's case, "bit by bit." He, too, asserted that Newton had a motive to do away with Mrs. Kelly.

CHARGE PAID AGITATORS IN LATEST STRIKE

Steps Taken For New Automobile Labor Peace Today

Detroit, Nov. 23—(AP)—Charges that "paid provocateurs" acted in the Pontiac, Mich., wildcat strike were voiced today as steps were taken to make the newest peace in the automobile labor field a lasting one.

Unidentified outside interests seeking to drum up business for labor spy organizations were blamed.

The United Automobile Workers of America, whose international leaders succeeded in halting the unauthorized strike at the Fisher body plant of General Motors Corporation yesterday, promised an investigation of the charges.

Aides of Homer Martin, union president, said the inquiry will be carried out along with the U. A. W. A's preparations for a grievance hearing next Monday and renewed efforts to negotiate another agreement with General Motors.

The hearing, before William E. Hotchkiss of Chicago as arbitrator, will carry hopes that a permanently peaceful means for adjusting disputes will be arrived at, union officials said.

The charges that "agents provocateurs" had "instigated" the Fisher strike came from Walter Reuther, member of the union's international executive board.

The case to come before Arbitrator Hotchkiss Monday, Hansen said, will be that of six corporation employees discharged last June.

SOUTH DIXON

South Dixon—A very happy evening was spent at the Wm. Miller home recently when nearly 100 friends tendered Mr. and Mrs. Harold Wright a miscellaneous shower. The newlyweds received a lovely assortment of presents for their new home, with best wishes from all. Cigars for the men and ice cream and wafers were served to all by the bride and groom. In leaving, all wished Mr. and Mrs. Wright a long life of happiness.

Mrs. August Grohens and daughters and Mrs. J. Lautzenheiser were recent Dixon callers at the Richard Meeks, Ed O'Malley and Ura Kline homes in Dixon.

Frank Miller of Dixon was a recent business caller in this territory. Mr. and Mrs. John Neustadt and son and daughter of Chicago were Sunday visitors at the Jesse Lautzenheiser home.

Mr. and Mrs. Lloyd Hoyle visited on Saturday with E. G. Etnyre and Bob Lee at the Amboy hospital.

The box social held at the Will school last Thursday evening was well attended and a neat sum was realized from the sale of boxes. The pupils furnished a very fine program and the 2-act play given by several young folks was especially well given. All who attended spent a very enjoyable evening.

Mrs. August Grohens and two daughters and Mrs. Jesse Lautzenheiser were dinner guests at the home of Mr. and Mrs. John Bennett, in Dixon on Wednesday.

A very large number of South Dixon friends attended the funeral of the late Mrs. Caroline Beard which was held at the Wauson church last Thursday. The sympathy of all friends are extended to the children and families of their devoted and loving mother.

A pleasant day was spent last Tuesday at the Wm. Remmers home north of Grand Detour when Mrs. Remmers entertained the S. D. Com. club in an all day meeting.

Can Go Sour

"Sweet Music" Bestor Jailed by His Di- vorced Wife

Kankakee, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—While his dance band continued its schedule of one-night stands, Don Bestor's engagement at the Kankakee county jail was extended another day today as he sought the $5,000 bond needed to effect his release.

Bestor, known to radio listeners for the "sweet music" his orchestra plays, can go sour in jail, his divorced wife said in effect. Mrs. Hattie C. Bestor Catton had him arrested Sunday night on a writ of ne exeat because, she said, he was in arrears on payments for the support of their son.

"It's an old story," Mrs. Catton said in an interview. "He's failed in other payments." She said she would make no attempt to help him raise the bond.

A Circuit court order of November 13 required Bestor to pay $600 by December 13 and $1,600 more by December, 1938, for the support of 16-year-old Bartley Bestor. A hearing was set for December 20, but Mrs. Catton secured the writ to prevent his leaving the court's jurisdiction.

Bestor's band played last night in Springfield, Ill., and was reported scheduled for an appearance in Ohio tonight.

DAVEY OPPOSES ACTION OF LABOR RELATIONS BOARD

Columbus, O., Nov. 23—(AP)—Gov. Martin L. Davey, stormy petrel of the "little steel" strike in Ohio, met today a complaint, filed with the national labor relations board, with the statement that "even that C. I. O. affiliate cannot invade the sovereign powers of the state of Ohio."

The complaint was filed against the chief executive by the United Rubber Workers of America, affiliated with the Committee for Industrial Organization, "to make Governor Davey confine his activity in strike matters to where there have been infractions of the law," union counsel Stanley Denlinger said.

In an action that James P. Miller, regional director of the NLRB Cleveland office, termed "unprecedented," the union thus answered Gov. Davey's order Saturday to 2,000 National Guardsmen to "stand by" for possible duty at the Akron factory of the Good-year Tire & Rubber Company while a sit-down strike was in progress.

After terming the labor board a "CIO affiliate," Davey said:

"If to preserve law and order in Ohio is to violate any federal statute, it would be news to me. In any event we choose to continue on the path of duty and protect the liberties of all our people. I still stand as a greater friend of labor than those who would beat them into submission to the iron will of a few self-seeking dictators."

COOGAN, BRIDE DUE BACK

Hollywood, Nov. 22—(AP)—Jackie Coogan and his bride, blonde Betty Grable, were due back before the cameras today after a week-end honeymoon at Santa Barbara.

They were married Saturday. The schedule of the picture on which they were working together gave them only one day's leave.

Mrs. Paul E. Myers, Jr. and son Robert of Chicago, spent a happy day recently at the home of Mr. and Mrs. Emil Matzinger. The families were former residents of Hobson, Mont.

Several farmers have shelled and delivered their corn recently.

Thanksgiving day will soon be here once more and Father Time is swiftly rolling on.

LOWEST INFANT DEATH RATE IN HISTORY MADE

Births Boosted Over Deaths By 18,086 Report Reveals

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—

The lowest infant and maternal mortality rates in the history of the state have helped to boost births 18,066 above deaths the first nine months of this year, Dr. A. C. Baxter, acting health director, said today.

Dr. Baxter said the 83,848 births and 65,782 deaths this year compared with 82,020 births and 69,735 deaths in the same period last year. There were 45 infant and 4.1 maternal deaths per 1,000 births this year.

In the first break in the steady upward rate since 1903, deaths from heart failure were off sharply, 17,371 against 18,466, a decline of 1,149, the largest in 20 years.

Nephritis dropped from 6,052 to 5,618 and noticeable declines took place in cancer, diabetes and apoplexy. Total mortality from the five diseases, which cause more than half of all deaths, dropped from 38,597 to 36,305.

Motor car accidents continued to be a blotch on the health chart, with fatalities up 12 per cent, 1,820 against 1,620.

With mortality from typhoid fever, scarlet fever, diphtheria, smallpox and infantile diarrhea also substantially lower, Dr. Baxter said every indication pointed to the most healthful Thanksgiving Day ever experienced in Illinois.

SECRET FRENCH REVOLUTIONARY SOCIETY BARED

Paris, Nov. 23—(AP)—The government is on the verge of "important discoveries" in its drive to crush an armed, secret revolutionary society, Marx Dormoy, minister of the interior, told the cabinet today.

Numerous documents of great importance were seized in a raid during the night, Dormoy said. Details of the documents were kept secret. The raid was "Somewhere in Paris."

Police today searched the luxurious apartment of a prominent engineering consultant in what they described as the latest foray in the hunt for evidence of a secret revolutionary society accused of plotting against the government.

The wife of the consultant, Mme. Edouard Delongue, told operatives her husband was traveling in Italy. The two-hour search produced a quantity of papers which were seized for further examination.

Officials of Surete Nationale said the expanded investigation had failed to add to the large supply of arms and munitions already seized.

Given 25 Years For Espionage; Soviet Russia

Moscow, Nov. 23—(AP)—Two foreigners, Paul Zilberhorn and Irving Klein, were sentenced to 25 years in prison today by a military court on charges of spying and sabotage under the orders of a foreign consulate at Leningrad.

The court said both pleaded guilty to all the charges, including plotting explosions at the port of Leningrad. They were said to have been sent to Leningrad by a "Military intelligence service."

OBITUARY

LAWRENCE FRANKLIN SHEETS

(Contributed)

Lawrence Franklin Sheets, son of Peter and Annie Musser Sheets, was born in York Spring, Pa., March 21, 1877 and passed from this life on Nov. 20, 1937 at the age of 60 years, 7 months, and 30 days. He had been in poor health for the past four months, but was only confined to his bed for his last two weeks.

He was married to Viola Senneff on Dec. 18, 1902. To this union were born two children: Nellie, wife of Rollie Ommen of Oregon, and a son who passed away in infancy.

He was married to Viola Senneff his wife and daughter; two grandchildren, Gordon and Elaine Ommen; one sister, Mrs. Charles Adams of Carlisle, Pa.; three half sisters and one half-brother, all of Carlisle, Pa.

Mr. Sheets was converted to the Christian way of life in 1904 and joined the Grace Evangelical church of Dixon of which he was a faithful member until his death. He was a kind and loving husband and father, and his passing is mourned by a host of friends.

"A precious one from us is gone, A voice we loved is stilled, A place is vacant in our home Which never can be filled."

"Sleep on, beloved, sleep, and take thy rest; Lay down thy head upon thy Savior's breast; We love thee well, but Jesus loves thee best; Good night! Good night! Good night!"

Funeral services were held in the home at 330 W. Everett street, Dixon and at the Grace Evangelical church of Dixon Monday, Nov. 22, 1937 in charge of the pastor, the Rev. George D. Nielsen. The songs used in the service were by Mr. Sheets' special request. They were: "What a Friend We Have in Jesus," "When the Roll is Called Up Yonder, I'll Be There," and "God Be With You 'Till We Meet Again."

They were sung by the Fathers and Sons' Sextette of Grace church. Pall bearers were Lee Lincoln, Carl Johnson, Lewis Gorton, James Valle, Robert Warner and Charles McCorry. Interment at Oakwood.

World War Veteran, Wife, Children Die of Gas Poisoning

Bridgeport, Conn., Nov. 23—(AP)—Raymond C. Yoeman, Canadian World war veteran, his wife and their three children died today of illuminating gas poisoning.

Medical Examiner H. R. Deluca said the gas seeped through a crack in their cellar wall from a leak in a street main.

The three children, George, 16, Virginia, 14, and Jeannette, 17, were found in bed. Their parents were lying in a second floor hallway where they collapsed after an apparent attempt to reach the window of an adjoining parlor.

Mrs. Yoeman, 37, and her son died enroute to a hospital. The others were pronounced dead at the scene.

Repair crews, donning masks, dug up the street immediately to reach the leaking main. Scores of spectators were forbidden to smoke.

Yoeman, 45, was associate general secretary of the Young Men's Christian Association here.

PERPETUAL CARE FOR LORADO TAFT INDIAN

Women's clubs of Ogle county have sent forth a request to the state of Illinois that it acquire ownership of the Indian statue that overlooks Rock river in the vicinity of Oregon, in order that it may have perpetual care. Of course, the request includes the tract of land which is the setting for the statue, and similar care for it.

Procedure has been suggested by Robert Kingery, former director of public works, who proposes that the board of supervisors first acquire the tract and hold it pending negotiations with the state, which, though a slow-moving object eventually may be induced to acquire the statue and its surroundings.

The statue, which is a creation of Lorado Taft, is not of Black Hawk, as many persons believe, but is only typical of the Indians of the tribes that inhabited the valley of romantic Rock river. In a commanding position on the heights the statue is an imposing figure in full view of all travel up and down Rock river between Dixon and Rockford.

Height of the statue is 48 feet, and it is on a base 18 feet square. It contains 2275 cubic feet of reinforced concrete, and weighs 536,770 pounds.

In endorsing the movement to induce the state to acquire the ground and its adornment, the Ogle County Republican quotes from Black Hawk as he spoke at Fort Madison, as recited by Col. Frank O. Lowden in his address dedicating the statue July 1, 1911:

"It has pleased the Great Spirit that I am here today. The earth is our mother. We are now on it with the Great Spirit above us. It is good. I hope we are all friends here. A few summers ago I was fighting you. I did wrong, perhaps, but that is past. It is buried. Let it be forgotten. Rock river was a beautiful country. I liked my towns, my corn fields and the home of my people. I fought for it. It is now yours. Keep it as we did."

Rock river's valley and its heights still afford us some of our most beautiful scenery, and more than at any prior time we are disposed to keep it as they did.

IT'S FINE TO DWELL IN HARMONY

Certainly that was a swell idea that resulted in the General Motors corporation entering into an agreement with the Committee of Industrial Organization. It may be presumed that the corporation entered into the agreement to bring about harmony between employer and employee so that both could make some money.

Well, since the agreement was made, who has had any more trouble in its plants than General Motors corporation?

TABER, FARM LEADER

Over his protest, Louis J. Taber has been elected master of the National Grange for the fifteenth year. His official career with state and national organizations was begun as a lecturer for the Ohio State Grange in 1907. He has served in numerous organizations in the interest of agriculture and seems to have measured up to requirements in all.

Taber is an Ohio Quaker and he has carried his honors modestly. He has been a modest rather than a bombastic leader. When he has spoken, he has disclosed a knowledge of the things fundamentally wrong with agriculture and he has sought to obtain cure for the disease instead of tampering with symptoms. That political agencies have thwarted him in his efforts is only the more honor to him for his bravery in the attempt. The Grange, of course, has no official standing and is not a recipient of government funds. It is an old farm organization with roots extending back to 1867. It has had its ups and downs, but throughout the terms of leadership of Mr. Taber it has maintained a status that inspired confidence.

In 1875 the National Grange had a membership of 1,500,000, and, of course, that was too large a group to be running at large without being attached to somebody's political fortunes, and politics discredited it considerably. Finally the political disease manifested itself in organization of the populist party and the Farmers' Alliance, and the Grange lived down its reputation as a political organism.

The younger American Farm Bureau federation has its test ahead of it. In our opinion the test will consist of a show of how far it can resist being used as a political organism. It begins with a handicap the Grange didn't have. It is on the "federal payroll." Federal aid, which eats into the intestines of every organism that swallows it, is an ever-present threat to its health and well-being.

Originally the farm bureau was organized and the farm adviser installed to help the farmer grow two blades of grass where one was grown before. It is going to require considerable courage on the part of the bureau and the agents to be able to resist degenerating into being a mere peddler of governmental orders.

QUARANTINED WAR

No person ever caught smallpox by staying away from an infected house. It's the one who goes near, if only to tack a "quarantined" sign on the doorpost, who runs a chance of taking the disease.

As long as the United States stays completely away from a war, isolated half-way around the world, there is little chance of being involved. But any move, however worthy, carries a threat of ultimate, dire results.

"We can't be neutral and write sassy letters," fiery ex-Marine Maj.-Gen. Smedley Butler declared in speaking of the Far Eastern situation, warning that similar steps led to America's entrance into the World War.

If a "quarantined" sign must be tacked on Japan's doorpost, let someone else do it. The United States caught the disease 20 years ago. The lesson should be fresh enough to remind the nation to protect the next generation.

WALLACE URGES STABILITY FOR FARM INDUSTRY

Presents Wheat Growers With Relief Plan For Agriculture

Wichita, Kans., Nov. 23—(AP)—American agriculture must establish its stability, Secretary Wallace declared today, or again become the nation's "forgotten industry" and carry the country back to another depression.

Addressing a group of Kansas wheat producers, he proposed a six-point farm program.

The present campaign for farm relief is a renewal of the old battle of "equality for agriculture," Wallace said.

The real issue, he declared, is whether "agriculture is to have a fair chance."

The six-point program urged by Wallace was similar in many respects to the bill submitted yesterday by the senate agriculture committee:

1. Planning a wheat crop which would allow for an exportable surplus to give farmers their share of the world market.
2. Establishing "acreage goals" in line with sound soil conservation and the needs of the domestic and foreign markets.
3. Establishing the "ever-normal" granary to store reserve supplies against drought years.
4. Crop insurance.
5. Retiring sub-marginal farm land now contributing to surpluses.
6. Price adjustment payments to farmers financed by "tariff-equalizing" or processing taxes.

SERIES OF TALKS WITH POWER MEN STARTED BY FDR

Both Republicans and New Dealers Work to Help Business

Washington, Nov. 23—(AP)—Attempts of both the Roosevelt administration and Republican Congressional leaders to find methods of helping business resulted today in four developments:

1. Members of a House tax subcommittee showed sentiment for exempting a fixed percentage of corporation incomes from the undistributed profits tax.
 2. President Roosevelt began a series of talks with private power leaders, talks which informed observers said might lead to a truce in the five-year feud between the administration and private utilities.
 3. Senator Vandenberg (R-Mich.) offered an "opposition" program in which he said business should be "permitted reasonable latitude to run itself."
 4. House Republicans, at the request of Rep. Knutson (R-Minn.) who opposes the levies, arranged to caucus on the question of advocating repeal of the undivided surplus and capital gains taxes.
- The House tax subcommittee asked treasury officials to supply estimates of revenue reductions which would result from exempting various percentages from the undistributed profits levy.
- The first private utility leader scheduled to call on Mr. Roosevelt today was Wendell L. Willkie.

Good News for Wildlife Leaders

Jay N. (Ding) Darling, president of General Wildlife Federation and Frederick F. Jordan, director of National Wildlife Restoration Week.

"More wildfowl than America has seen in seven years" is the good news that Jay N. (Ding) Darling, president of the General Wildlife Federation, brings to outdoor America this week.

"Hundreds of eager volunteers signing up," is the good news Frederick F. Jordan, director of National Wildlife Restoration Week gives to Mr. Darling.

The two conservation leaders, in conference in New York, reviewed the recent activities of the Federation in which are joined sportsmen, clubwomen, farm youths and nature lovers in a great movement for the saving of outdoor America.

"The restoration of vast areas of wildfowl breeding grounds is paying visible dividends this fall," said "Ding" Darling famous cartoonist and former chief of the U. S. Bureau of Biological Survey.

"All along the great Mississippi fly-way we see the come-back of wildfowl. Not only are ducks and geese benefited, but many other species. The Malheur Lake project in Oregon has brought back more than fifty kinds of native birds to their ancient breeding grounds."

National Wildlife Restoration Week, to be held next March, will bring to a climax the nation-wide campaign being carried on by Director Jordan, with headquarters at 400 Madison avenue, New York City.

"Wildlife Week will serve to bring to every American an accounting of our outdoor heritage," said Mr. Jordan. "The Week will be observed in every community, and it will unite still further the many organizations that are now working under the banner of the General Wildlife Federation."

Vandenberg Makes Suggestions

Senator Vandenberg, who has received mention as a Republican presidential candidate in 1940, made 10 suggestions for improving economic conditions in a radio speech last night. His proposals were:

End business distrust of government, speed up balancing of the budget, substitute "incentive taxation" for the "punitive brand," amend the Social Security Act and the Wagner labor relations act, abandon the wage-hour bill, curtail the President's "executive despotism," give relief to farmers "without bureaucratic controls," adopt an "insulating neutrality," and abandon "all anti-constitutional activities and intrigues."

Gunmen Wound Gary Man in Chicago Loop

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AP)—Frank J. Cook, 40-year-old Gary, Ind., attorney, was recovering today from two bullet wounds inflicted by a gunman who shot him in gangster fashion as he mounted the stairs of an elevated railroad platform in the loop.

Witnesses told police one of two men in a small car fired five shots at the lawyer last night.

Cook, who also operates a barber shop in the Loop, said he had no enemies and in all probability the shooting was a mistake.

The lawyer said he had spent the day shopping and going to the movies and started for the LaSalle street station to board a train for home. As he was half way up the stairs of the elevated platform, which connects with the railroad terminal, an automobile cut over to the wrong side of the street. Without warning the man in the back seat opened fire.

Cook was able to walk to a nearby drug store.

Mrs. Lunde Says School System is Near Breakdown

"Too many cooks spoil the broth," the Illinois school system is so decentralized and has so many different people running it that it has almost broken down, and it has utterly failed to fulfill the American promise to all children; an equal educational opportunity," so says Mrs. Laura Hughes Lunde, chairman of the Department of Government and Education of the Illinois League of Women Voters in a publication out today called "The Illinois School System in 1937." This publication, issued by the Illinois League of Women Voters, recommends the abolition of the township trustees and treasurers because the system is inefficient and expensive.

"There are 12,000 school boards in the state," says Mrs. Lunde, "which run from one board looking after 519,742 children and about 400 schools to 233 which have no school. One district with no children in 1937 employed a teacher." Mrs. Lunde's report shows that 5,002 school boards had less than 15 pupils and about 7,000 less than 18 pupils. "In a number of schools, there are more members of the school board than there are pupils under them. Illinois has a total of at least 40,600 school board members altogether. Add to this very large number the township treasurers and trustees and you have 48,048 people to manage the education of 847,806 children downstate, while 11 people manage the education of 519,742 children in Chicago. There are only 47,677 teachers in the state and 48,048 lay people managing the schools. Chicago has about 13,000 teachers, so downstate there are about 34,677 teachers to the 48,048 school board members and school trustees—a perfectly absurd situation."

The facts in this study are taken from the School Law of Illinois; "the latest (1936) statistical report of the Superintendent of Public Instruction; the Illinois School Directory, 1936-1937; the Cook County League's questionnaire to County Superintendents of Schools, March, 1937; the tax rates of 87 counties supplied by county clerks; "The Township Treasurer System of Illinois" by Homer L. Johnson; and the "Report of the Illinois Education Commission, 1936."

To Pay For Course With $2000 Reward

Syracuse, N. Y., Nov. 23—(AP)—Casper Mirra, 20-year-old parking lot attendant, says he is going to pay for his automobile and a course in art with a $2,000 reward for helping to capture Percy "Angel Face" Geary.

Attorney General Cummings announced the federal rewards would be paid to Mirra and Ivan Whiteford, Syracuse janitor, who supplied the information resulting in the capture of John Oley and Harold "Red" Crowley.

Whiteford will receive $4,000 reward. Oley, Crowley and Geary escaped a week ago from the jail where they were held pending an appeal after their conviction in federal court of the kidnapping of John J. O'Connell, Jr., Albany. They are now lodged in the "escape-proof" Albany county jail at Albany.

DETONATOR IS EVIDENCE NOW IN BOMB TRIAL

Government Piling Up Evidence Against P. M. U. Miners

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—Government prosecutors sought to establish today that coal train bombings, which climaxed three years of mine union hostilities, interfered with foreign as well as interstate commerce.

From J. J. Enright, head clerk of the Illinois Central Railroad's record bureau in Chicago, came testimony that shipments to and from Canada were hauled over the road's lines in Illinois. He identified waybills showing that Canadian crude oil and newsprint were hauled by the road.

Piling up evidence that mail deliveries were delayed by bombings, the government called Harry S. Mason of Clinton, assistant I. C. chief dispatcher, who told of detouring mail trains because of wreckage of coal cars south of Mt. Pulaski on October 2, 1934.

Further evidence of this nature was given yesterday by conductors and railway postal clerks.

William E. Nothdurft, chief billing clerk of the Peabody Coal Company, was recalled to the stand to show that the bombings of coal trains disrupted interstate commerce. He said coal shipments from the Taylorville, Kincaid and Humphrey mines, which were wrecked by blast north of Springfield in early 1935, were billed for Iowa and Indiana.

Evidence Technical

The evidence was mostly technical and cross examination was infrequent, as the prosecution introduced photographs of wrecked coal cars, shipping records and waybills. Chief Defense Counsel A. M. Fitzgerald brought out on cross examination of J. R. McAvoy, Clinton, Illinois Central conductor, that the detour route made necessary by the Mt. Pulaski wreck was no longer than the regular route.

The jury had before it apparatus the government alleges was used in one of the bombings of the Illinois Central roadbed, the first exhibit of its kind in the mass trial of 41 men for conspiracy.

More than 100 feet of wire, a box of dry batteries and a single pole knife switch comprised the equipment the railroad's special officer testified he found after a blast August 21, 1934, south of Springfield, sent more than a dozen loaded coal cars into the ditch.

Plot Against Lewis

Also before the jury was second-hand information, given by prosecution witness, Marion Ensor of Chicago, of an alleged plot to kill John L. Lewis, international president of the United Mine Workers of America.

Ensor testified that in July, 1934, he met Russell Wagner of Gillespie, a defendant, in Peoria and that the latter told him that "the year previously he had been hired by the Progressive miners to kill Lewis." Most of the defendants are members of the Progressive union.

O. G. Chapman of Springfield, I. C. special officer, yesterday described for the jury how his investigation of the August, 1934, explosion led to the discovery of the detonator equipment.

"I found two strands of wire leading from the scene of the explosion over an embankment and down into a pasture about 150 feet," Chapman testified. "The wires were attached to eight batteries and a switch, which was closed."

More exhibits are expected to be placed in evidence before the government completes its case against the men charged with interfering with interstate commerce and obstructing the mails.

In one room of the Federal court quarters are stacked a large number of batteries, rolls of wire, switches and other paraphernalia, assembled and tagged for presentation to the jury.

Conductors and railway postal clerks testified that two bombings on the I. C. right of way in the summer of 1934 delayed trains carrying mails. Mine officials related how biases damaged property of two mines here, one explosion endangering the lives of about 350 men at work underground.

Federal prosecutors attempted to show that unexploded dynamite found after the bombing of the Peabody Peerless mine was part of a quantity of explosive sold by Joe Turigliatto, Benid hardware merchant, to John Schneider and William Crompton, Springfield, defendants and members of the Progressive miners union.

Deposed Bishop's Estate to Spread Communistic Creed

Bucyrus, O., Nov. 23—(AP)—The Communist party is to benefit under the will of the late Rev. William Montgomery Brown, deposed bishop of the Protestant Episcopal church.

The will, on file today, provided that the residuary estate, after several specific bequests, is to go to a corporation to be formed by the trustees under the will, who are instructed to devote all or part of it to the cause of Communism, as "propagated by Karl Marx."

Document provides $5,999 a year or less, according to circumstances, for the printing and circulation of Brown's writings, including his book "Communism and Christianity" which brought about his church trial for heresy.

Sixteen Oil Firms Denied Acquittal For Price-Fixing

Madison, Wis., Nov. 23—(AP)—Federal Judge Patrick T. Stone denied today all motions for directed verdicts of acquittal for the remaining 16 corporate defendants in the federal government's gasoline price-fixing case.

Judge Stone withheld a ruling as to similar motions on behalf of the 41 executives and employees on trial. He recessed court until Monday and wished the defendants "a happy Thanksgiving."

HANKOW BECOMES NEW EMBASSY OF U. S. AMBASSADOR

Representatives of Other Nations Also Move

Shanghai, Nov. 23—(AP)—United States Ambassador Nelson T. Johnson and members of his staff embarked today on the United States gunboat Luzon for the long Yangtze river trip from Nanking to Hankow where a temporary embassy has been established.

Hankow, in Hupeh province, one of the three cities to which the central Chinese government had moved under the threat of an advancing Japanese army, lies about 280 miles by air southwest of Nanking and considerably further by way of the winding Yangtze.

Johnson left several aides at Nanking, including Second Secretaries George Aatcheson, Jr., and J. Hall Paxton and Assistant Military Attache Frank Roberts and Assistant Naval Attache James McHugh.

The German, British, French, Russian, Italian Belgian and Mexican representatives also moved to Hankow. Envoys of the Netherlands and Switzerland proceeded to Shanghai.

Japs Hammer at Wush
Japanese navy planes hammered today at Wush, key point in Chinese defense lines half way between Shanghai and Nanking.

Although Chinese troops previously were reported in flight from crumbling Wush defenses, Japanese officers admitted Chinese still held the city, some 95 miles southeast of the nation's capital.

Japanese planes ranged far to the west in bombing forays. They were said to have destroyed 20 Chinese planes stationed at Chowkiakow, in Honan province.

(The Brussels conference on the Far Eastern situation was in adjournment until tomorrow, when it was expected to vote on a declaration admitting failure of its efforts to end the Chinese-Japanese war.)

Japs Acquire Customs

Japan today acquired a major share in control of customs in Shanghai, China's wealthiest port. Sir Frederick W. Maze, British inspector general of Chinese customs, appointed Yoshisuke Akatani, a Japanese, administrative commissioner of customs at Shanghai. He also named a Japanese, Keiichi Kato, revenue accountant in the Shanghai office.

The arrangement was believed to be an effort to prevent customs administrations from becoming an internationally disputed question.

The Central News Agency, semi-official Chinese government organization, announced today it would suspend activities in Shanghai tomorrow.

Agency officials explained the suspension resulted from a Japanese demand to International authorities that all Chinese government activities therein cease. Officials said the news agency would continue outside Shanghai.

ARRANGE MOVE OF CHICAGO'S POOR TO HOMES

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AMID controversial claims by realty spokesmen of unfair government competition, the Chicago housing authority arranged today to move the first of 10,000 persons into model houses and apartments costing more than $15,000,000 of federal cash.

The first families, many from the slums, will move in next month. Selections of tenants began today upon approval of a rental scale ranging from $21 a month for two rooms to $33.50 for five room apartments. Ultimately 2414 families will be housed in three separate developments on Chicago's north, west and far south sides, but occupancy will not be completed until late next year.

Criticism by organized real estate men of the Chicago project—largest mid-western development in the federal government's $526,000,000 slum-clearance experiment—hinged on its exemption from local taxes.

The housing authority will pay $39,731 annually for city services, such as water supply and fire protection, in lieu of taxes. Fred M. Lorish, president of the Chicago real estate board, said the same properties if built by private capital would be taxed almost a half million dollars a year.

Miss Elizabeth Wood, executive secretary of the Chicago housing authority, said, however, the average levied tax per room on the old buildings torn down was 50 cents, only a small part of which the city ever was able to collect whereas the service charge amounts to 41 cents a room for the new housing, "and the city will get it."

Screen Actress And Orchestra Leader To Marry, Friday

Hollywood, Nov. 23—(AP)—Betty Furness, screen actress, and Johnny Green, orchestra leader, today set Friday for their wedding.

Green's first wife, Carol, obtained a Reno divorce only yesterday charging desertion.

A few moments after the orchestra leader was informed Mrs. Green was awarded a decree, he and Miss Furness filed notice of intention to wed, giving his age as 29 and hers as 21.

Stays In Jail, Safe From Father-in-Law

Fort Wayne, Ind., Nov. 23—(AP)—Charles W. Myers, 30, a Chicago dress salesman who pleaded guilty to a charge of bigamy, stayed in jail here overnight because, Police Captain Jule Stumpf said, he sought "protection" from his father-in-law.

Myers testified in city court yesterday he married Mary Brothers, 26, October 23. The bride charged he had not been divorced from a former wife, Mrs. Emma Myers of Chicago.

Capt. Stumpf said Myers and Thomas Brothers, brother of the second Mrs. Myers, appeared at police headquarters and asked that Myers be placed in jail to protect him from the bride's father, Roy H. Brothers. Myers, who was released earlier on bond, signed a waiver and was given a cell.

Miss Oliver Named

Home Adviser in

Tazewell County

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 23—Miss Stella Oliver, home economics vocational teacher of several years' experience, will start work December 1 as new home adviser for Tazewell county, according to an announcement by the extension service in agriculture and home economics, college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

Miss Oliver leaves a position in the Carbondale community high school to work with more than 300 women in the Tazewell county home bureau. She will take the position held by Miss Rena Hodgen, who has accepted a position with the state board of vocational education.

Following her graduation from the University of Missouri, Columbia, Miss Oliver taught at Mendon high school. As a teacher in the Carbondale school since 1936, Miss Oliver re-organized the home economics department, directed a cooperative home for students and has been dean of girls. The cooperative home for high school girls was the first of its kind in the state.

Miss Oliver is one of 50 home advisers now carrying home economics extension work to homemakers in 56 counties of the state, under direction of the college of agriculture, University of Illinois.

Members of the Dixon League of Women Voters met yesterday afternoon at the home of Mrs. Florence Plummer White. The program for the afternoon was in charge of the welfare committee and Miss Gene Satorius, high school student, gave a recitation on the constitutional convention. Clyde Buckingham spoke on the history of the relief set-up. After the meeting tea was served.

New York, Nov. 23—(AP)—The "Four Aces" were kingspins of the bridge world again today, so far as the Vanderbilt cup goes.

The 4,000 points piled up last night by Oswald Jacoby, Howard Schenken, David Burnstein, M. D. Maier and Sherman Stearns left Harold S. Vanderbilt's team far in the rear.

The only gibby for Vanderbilt and his teammates, Waldemar K. Von Zedwitz, Theodore A. Lightner, Charles Lochridge and B. Jay Becker was the fact that they led the champions by 60 points Sunday at the halfway mark of the 72 boards.

Washington, Nov. 23—(AP)—President Roosevelt refused today to concede that he used bad grammar.

Shown an open letter by Professor Janet R. Aiken of Columbia university questioning his grammar in recent speeches, the President smilingly blamed newsmen who reported his extemporaneous remarks.

Professor Aiken quoted the President as saying at Cheyenne, Wyo., "Engineers are human just like I am." At Boise, Ida., she said Roosevelt let go with this one: "Just like the plain folks like all of us are."

A check of the official stenographic transcripts of those speeches (carried textually in the press) showed Professor Aiken quoted the President correctly at Cheyenne, but had one too many "likes" for Boise.

The transcript noted the President said "Just like the plain folks we, all of us, are."

In her letter, Dr. Aiken wanted to know: "Did you learn how to use 'like' that way at Groton or Harvard or where?"

FARM MEASURE

CONSIDERED IN

SENATE TODAY

Abandon Hope of Getting

Wage-Hours Bill From Committee

Washington, Nov. 23—(AP)—The Senate went to work on long-range farm legislation today after side-tracking the anti-lynching bill.

As it did so, administration leaders—trying to push forward with the President's program on another front—abandoned hope of getting the wages and hours bill from the House rules committee. The committee has refused since last summer to let the House consider the labor measure.

During the day a House subcommittee agreed tentatively to a complete revision of the corporate tax system. It would increase abandonment of undistributed profits levies on corporations with incomes of $25,000 or less, and modifications on incomes greater than that.

The farm bill, providing surplus crop control, was called up in the Senate as soon as Senator Wagner (D-NY) withdrew his motion to take up the anti-lynching legislation. The latter measure has had the Senate tied up in a filibuster.

Defer Anti-Lynching Bill

The action, however, merely deferred the anti-lynching controversy to a later date. Vice-President Garner ruled that the legislation, opposed by southerners, would come up again automatically as soon as the farm bill is out of the way.

Soon after the House met Chairman O'Connor (D-NY) of the rules committee announced that his group refused to let the wage-hour measure come out to the floor.

House leaders hoped to get the farm bill into their chamber within a day or two, but their efforts to pry loose the wage-hour bill were given a setback by William Green, president of the American Federation of Labor.

William Green Demands

Green demanded in a letter to Chairman Norton (D-NJ) of the House labor committee that the measure, which the Senate passed last session, either be rewritten or dropped. He criticized the provision empowering a five-man board to fix maximum hours and minimum wages.

The House rivers and harbors committee began hearings today on a regional planning program, another of the President's recommendations.

The proposal would create seven regional authorities to co-ordinate all proposals for conserving the nation's resources, ranging from

New York, Nov. 23—(AP)—Straight from the coast: California has just about made up its mind to ask Pitt to the Rose Bowl if Pitt gets past Duke Saturday . . . Because if some other team is picked it will clear the decks for the Sugar Bowl (rapidly becoming a major rival) to come up with Pitt vs. Alabama or some other such attraction . . . When good old Gabby Hartnett was introduced at a Chicago fight the other night, 21,000 fans gave him a three-minute ovation . . . He still is the No. 1 Chicago candidate for manager of the Cubs . . . Ralph Vona, classy Asbury Park, N. J., welterweight, once was the favorite caddy of Edward G. Robinson, the film star.

Within a week two Broadway gossip columns have reported Lefty Gomez of the Yanks and the good-looking June O'Dea are arranging a friendly divorce . . . Harry Eichen, a shoe shop attendant in Manchester, Eng., won $100,000 in a football pool and flags were hoisted all over town in celebration . . . GREYHOUND NOT THROUGH WITH TURF RECORDS

Expected To Go On
Breaking Former Marks
Handily

New York, Nov. 23—(AP)—Greyhound, the world's fastest trotter, is not through breaking records, in the opinion of his veteran trainer, Sep Palin of Indianapolis. The grey flash, which stepped a mile in 1:56 at Lexington this fall to shave three-fourths of a second off Peter Manning's 14-year-old world record, will be back next year attempting to lower the mark.

"The only thing that will prevent him from racing next year will be failure to stand training," said Palin, who is here for the 43rd Old Glory auction sale opening today. "Right now he is as sound as they come. He's out jogging every day at Indianapolis, probably will spend part of the winter at Orlando, Fla."

Can Break 1:56
"I honestly believe he can break 1:56," Palin added as he admitted the big gelding probably could have broken Peter Manning's record earlier in the season had he so desired. As it was he hung up a new mark of 1:59 1/4 for a half-mile track, lowered the mile and a half time to 3:02 1/2 and equalled Peter Manning's record before travelling a mile in the fastest time ever made by a trotter.

Palin said he intended to race his ace in some stakes although most of his starts probably will be against time. This year he was opposed by other horses in only one of his five starts.

Jack Benny: Well, I'll tell you, fellows, it's sort of a surprise . . . I've been practicing on my violin for the past ten weeks, and it's a secret . . . even my neighbors don't know it.

Mary Livingston: They think it's the lawnmower.

BIG TEN GRID CROWDS BEST IN TEN YEARS

Only 1927's Gate Receipts Exceeded This Fall's

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AP)—Return to circulation of what the boys call "folding money" is reflected in football attendance and receipts for 1937 in the Western conference.

Receipts probably will exceed the $2,000,000 mark for the season just closed—the highest figure since the peak year of 1927, Major John L. Griffith, commissioner of the athletics for the "Big Ten," said today. The all-time high was $2,770,600 in 1927. Last year the receipts were $1,750,000. The bottom was in 1932 when the cash amounted to $972,589.

The "big three" from the standpoint of attendance were Ohio State, Minnesota and Northwestern, with the Buckeyes leading for the second consecutive year with eight games at home and abroad drawing an estimated 397,000. Although the final checkup will not be completed for several days, the Buckeyes no doubt will eclipse their all-time high of 392,000 hung up a year ago.

New All-Time High
Northwestern, although failing to retain its Big Ten championship, set an all-time new high for the Wildcats with a total of 339,800 fans at eight games.

Wisconsin and Illinois ran far ahead of last year's attendance figures, although a final checkup will not be available for a couple of weeks. Chicago, which failed to win a conference game, trailed the field.

The "Big Ten" schools split gate receipts right down the middle when they play each other. Only the cost of officials is deducted. The visiting team pays its own traveling expenses and the home team other incidentals of staging the game. When a conference team plays a non-conference school the visiting team gets a guarantee, which varies in accordance with the size of the school and the importance of the game.

ICE CARNIVAL IN CHICAGO DRAWS ARRAY OF STARS

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AP)—"Old Man Winter" may be delayed enroute to the midwest, but there is no delay at the Chicago stadium in making preparations for the sixth annual International Ice Carnival, which will be held for five nights November 24 to 28 with a Sunday afternoon matinee. The greatest array of ice stars to ever participate in a carnival has been assembled for this magnificent stadium spectacle.

The last ice carnival at the stadium attracted thousands and thousands of spectators, in fact the huge building was a complete sellout for five performances and many were turned away. This record has never been achieved by any other show in Chicago or any other metropolitan cities. The 1937 seat sale opened twelve days in advance of the premiere and mail orders were numerous.

Many Headliners
Headlining the list of celebrities for the sixth annual carnival are Shipstead & Johnson, America's greatest comedy team; Bess Eberhardt, the darling of the ice; Roy Shipstead, the "Human Top"; McGowan and Mack, famous Apache dancers on ice; the Four Nelson Sisters; Lois Dworshak, the rhythm girl; Osborne Colson, Canada's senior skating champion, Heine Brock, famous clown of the ice; Ruby and Bobby Maxson, youthful skating stars; Harris Legg, trick skater and barrel jumping wonder, and Idi Papaz and Karl Zwack, Austrian and European champions.

The Chicago stadium production and technical department has been busy for the past several weeks building scenery and effects for sixth annual carnival. The ballet of forty skaters have been in constant rehearsal and will present new innovations in skating numbers. In fact, the Chicago stadium promises new acts, new skating routines, new groups, new costumes and gorgeous effects. This year's carnival is certain to be brighter and smarter than shows of the past.

Bo Puts Four Of Own Players On All-Star Squad

Bloomington, Ind., Nov. 23—(AP)—Four Indiana University players were placed on the all-Big Ten conference football team for 1937 selected by Coach A. N. (Bo) McMillin of Indiana today.

His team: Ends; Kenderdine of Indiana and King of Minnesota; tackles, Midler of Minnesota and Woltman of Purdue; guards, Sirtosky of Indiana and Zarnes of Ohio State; center, Miller of Indiana; quarterback, McDonald of Ohio State; halfbacks, Cecil Isbel of Purdue and Gmitro of Minnesota; fullbacks, Davis of Indiana.

State Investigators Seize Unstamped Beer

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—State investigators, in a drive to enforce the Illinois liquor tax laws, have seized unstamped liquor and beer in retail stores in Galesburg, and Kewanee, Finance Director S. L. Nudelman announced today.

The investigators seized 64 containers of alcohol and spirits and 12 containers of beer in 20 of 55 establishments visited at Galesburg.

At Kewanee, 14 of 65 licensees investigated possessed 15 unstamped containers of alcohol and spirits and two containers of beer.

In announcing the drive several days ago, Nudelman said the names of the offenders would be given to the Illinois liquor control commission for consideration of whether the licenses should be revoked for violation of a state law.

Elgin Dairy Co. is Seeking Injunction

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AP)—The Elgin Homes Dairy, Inc., of Elgin, filed an injunction suit in circuit court yesterday to restrain the village of Maywood from cancelling its license to deliver milk.

The bill charged that Mayor Curt O. Krausser cancelled the license September 24 after the company had refused to employ the laboratory firm of Koller & Koller to inspect the farms from which it obtains milk instead of the Suburban Laboratories with which the company has a contract.

The dairy complained that the Koller firm demanded a fee of $16 a farm in place of a customary $3.

Ray Ridlbauer led Miller High Life Beer Monday night with a snappy series of 624 with games of 228-204-192.

Millers won two from Bogotts Welders and are now only two games out of first place at the end of the first round. Ed Worley is setting the pace with an average of 202 for the first round.

A-team single of 1079 by D. X. Service remains high, and John's place holds high series with 2996.

Harold Wenk possesses a strong grip on high single game with 286, while Ed Worley and Phil Preston are sharing high series honor with 695.

Crumps Drop Two

Crumps Service dropped two games to Chevrolet by rolling counts of 825-901-792, totaling 2518 against 866-873-857 totaling 2596 for Chevrolet. Lyle Prescott was high for Crumps with 545.

Eyston To Store Distance Auto In Salt Lake City

Salt Lake City, Nov. 23—(AP)—Capt. George E. T. Eyston said today he would store his racer "Speed of the Winds" here for the winter, keeping "the machine available for distance runs next year."

Racing fans took that as an indication he would seek a new record for the 24-hour run at Bonneville Salt Flats.

Ab Jenkins set the 24-hour record of about 161 miles per hour at the flats last summer, Eyston his 319.1 m. p.h. in his "Thunderbolt" while setting the mile record of 31.24 Friday.

Georges Michel of France set the record for swimming the English Channel, in 11 hours and 5 minutes.

Lee's Basketball Card Announced For This Winter

Lee, Nov. 23—(Special)—Lee high school's 1937-38 basketball schedule was announced this morning, two games having already been played, the one with Fairdale which Lee won 49 to 24 and the contest with West Brooklyn also a victory for Lee.

The balance of the schedule is as follows:

Nov. 23—Malta, there.
Dec. 3—Caledonia, there.
Dec. 7—Kings, there.
Dec. 8-9-10-11—Green River Valley conference tournament at Franklin Grove.
Dec. 17—Creston, here.
Dec. 22—Compton, here.
Jan. 7—West Brooklyn, there.
Jan. 14—Meridian conference tournament.
Jan. 21—Compton, there.
Feb. 1—Franklin Grove "B" at Franklin Grove.
Feb. 5—Caledonia, there.
Feb. 11—Fairdale, here.
Feb. 12—Kings, here.
Feb. 18—Creston, here.

DYKES LIKELY TO BE POPULAR BALL DELEGATE

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AP)—James Dykes, the little man who likes big cigars, probably will come out of the approaching baseball meetings with enough free stogies to carry him through the 1938 season.

Genial Jimmy, who has never been accused of being a baseball "wallflower," apparently is going to be one of the most popular "delegates" to the minor league convention December 1-3 at Milwaukee and at the major league meetings to be held here December 6-8.

And the chunky Chicago White Sox manager, with good reason, apparently is ready to have a big time for himself.

For one thing, Dykes wants a good third baseman. He observed his 41st birthday early this month and while he still knows a bit about playing the "hog corner," the legs are weak though the spirit is willing.

For another thing, Jimmy wants some outfield punch, and as he has a few pitchers other clubs could use, it appears as if Jimmy will be a marked man throughout the sessions.

Dykes already has been offered so many third sackers that he has indicated he'll hold off until the best bargain comes along. The St. Louis Browns have been trying to tempt him with Harland Clift, a fine infielder; Cleveland is reported to have offered Sammy Hale.

Dykes has made little secret of the fact that he'd like Bill Werber of the Athletics, and even though the "A's" say Werber isn't for sale, Jimmy still is hoping.

13th Kidnap, Police Declare

Of the 13 men involved in the 1933 kidnaping of John J. O'Connell, of Albany, N. Y., two have committed suicide and 10 others have been sentenced to terms of from three to 77 years in federal penitentiaries and here, police say, is James Sweeney, last member of the gang, shown above after his capture in Los Angeles. The prisoner denied his guilt, gave the name of James Sanders. A $45,000 ransom was paid for O'Connell's release.

South Bend, Ind., Nov. 23—(AP)—The 12th consecutive game of football's oldest intersectional rivalry between a Pacific coast school and one from another section will be played Saturday when Notre Dame entertains the Trojans of Southern California.

Some 50,000 fans are expected to watch Southern California attempt to increase its victory total to five games. The Irish have won six, while one game was tied.

The teams have played spectacularly on several occasions. The Irish won the opener, in 1926, by a 13-12 score. The 1927 score was 7-6 in favor of the Irish. In 1923 the Trojans won, 27 to 14, and in 1931 they took a 16 to 14 thriller. The teams played to a 13 to 13 tie at Los Angeles last year.

PASTURE LAND PROGRAM AIDED BY EARLY PLANS

Winter Months Offer the Best Opportunity for Preparation

No better time than winter months can be found in which Illinois farmers can plan an improvement program for the 8-195,200 acres of pasture land in the state, according to J. J. Pieper, chief in crop production, Illinois college of agriculture.

This pasture acreage, amounting to more than 25 per cent of the 32,000,000 acres of land in farms in Illinois, is equal to 30 per cent of the land available to crops and is equivalent to nearly half of the area from which crops are harvested.

"In a livestock system of farming, there is probably no better means of reducing the cost of animal products and thus rendering a profit than by the improvement of pastures," Pieper said.

"Outstanding problems are to increase the carrying capacity of low-producing pasture lands, to produce a uniform supply of forage throughout the growing season, to improve the quality of the forage produced and to manage the grazing lands so as to maintain them in a high state of productivity for a long period."

Can Correct Deficiencies
To increase the carrying capacity of pastures it is necessary to determine the causes of low yields and to correct these deficiencies, Pieper explained. Frequently pastures are located on the poorest soils of the farm, which is often the cause of unproductiveness. It pays to test such land to determine what mineral elements are lacking so that they may be added.

Limestone, phosphorus or potash, may be needed, and less fertile soils will require nitrogen for satisfactory growth of pasture plants. Nitrogen may be supplied by adding manure as a top dressing or by plowing it under in preparation for seeding, by growing legumes in the pasture mixture or by adding commercial fertilizers rich in nitrogen.

Where the soil is wet, drainage will help, and if the pasture is badly eroded, terraces may be used. Cultivation and reseeding will be of little value unless the causes of poor stands of grass are corrected. Mowing established pastures to control weeds and thus cause a more rapid development of grass is recommended. Rolling in the spring is beneficial if heavy frost has been severe.

In producing a uniform supply of forage, the second pasture problem listed by Pieper, it is necessary to see that the soil is maintained in a high state of fertility. This helps to minimize low rainfall, which is the most pronounced cause of poor production. Choice of forage plants which will reach their maximum production at different seasons of the year is suggested. Alfalfa and brome grass are producing well in mid-summer when Kentucky bluegrass and white clover are in a semi-dormant stage. Grazing management together with supplemental pastures will aid materially.

Better Forage Needed
To improve the quality of forage produced, it is necessary to choose only those plants which are palatable and which have a high nutritive value. For this reason legumes are recommended. Application of fertilizers to correct soil deficiencies will improve palatability and increase the mineral and protein content of the forage. Fairly close grazing will keep the grass in a succulent condition.

Proper management of grazing lands is necessary to give the grass a chance to develop and maintain a high state of productivity for a long period. Pieper pointed out that grass should be permitted to reach a good growth in the spring before animals are turned onto it. Then too, grazing should not be so close as to cause the grass to die during unfavorable weather conditions. Late fall grazing is as harmful as early spring grazing, since the plants do not have a chance for root storage in preparation for winter.

Alternate rather than continuous grazing is best adapted to most pastures. Burning pastures to control weeds is discouraged, since it is also injurious to the grass. Pastures can be improved only by discovering the cause of low yields and correcting such practices, Pieper said.

1,058 Stolen Autos Recovered By State Police 17 Months

Springfield, Ill., Nov. 23—AP—Director F. Lynden Smith of Public Works has reported that 1,058 stolen automobiles valued at $432,000 have been recovered during the 17 months operation of the state police radio network.

The October report of police radio operations showed 77 out of every 100 automobiles stolen were recovered, arrests were made in 40.8 per cent of all criminal cases reported, 33 per cent of missing persons reported were found and 26 per cent of reported stolen property was recovered.

WILL COMPETE AT CHICAGO

This ton weight purebred stallion will compete with hundreds of other draft horses that will be exhibited at the 1937 International Live Stock Exposition and Horse Show, which will be held in the International Amphitheatre at the Chicago Stock Yards, November 27 to December 4.

Five draft horse breeds, the Belgian, Percheron, Clydesdale, Shire, and Suffolk, will be represented in the competitions of this largest annual agricultural exposition. They will be exhibited by the leading breeders of the United States and Canada.

The show will also include thousands of animals in the beef cattle, sheep, and swine competitions. According to Secretary-Manager E. H. Heide, a total of over $100,000 will be awarded in cash prizes at this year's exposition, its 36th annual renewal.

Alexander Ritchie, manager of the Royal Farms at Windsor, England, will judge the fat cattle classes and select the grand champion steer of the show. He is making the trip to Chicago by special permission of King George, proprietor of the Royal Farms at Windsor.

The WASHINGTON MERRY-GO-ROUND

fact that Smith's committee did nothing about a farm bill last session when cotton prices began to tumble.

Fact is the farm bill is a bitter pill for "Cotton Ed" to swallow.

He doesn't want marketing or production control, would love nothing better than to take off his coat and cudgel the President. But South Carolina farmers are overwhelmingly for control—as Smith learned forcefully at a hearing he conducted in Columbia, S. C., last month. After a speech in which he took some left-handed slaps at regulation, Smith shouted:

"I want to know what you fellows right from the hoe-handle think. How many favor compulsory control?"

Out of 600 cotton growers present, 575 raised their hands. After the meeting, Smith dolefully told a friend: "I wasn't feeling very good before that hearing, but I'm a sick man now."

The Administration will depend on Louisiana's curly-headed Senator Ellender to carry the ball on the control issue. The Huey Long protege is a red hot control advocate, urging it at all of the twelve Southern farm hearings. Smith, incidentally, although chairman of the committee, attended only three of these meetings. And even at these three, Ellender stole the show.

Note — While Roosevelt and Secretary Wallace want a farm bill with teeth, they are chary about going too far. They favor a "middle-of-the-road" course, with cotton and tobacco under some form of compulsory control, and grains on a voluntary basis. The chances are strong that this is the kind of a measure Congress will pass.

Graveyard

Attorney General Homer S. Cummings was explaining to a press conference how he had labored for years to get rid of his middle initial.

"I just about had it buried," he said, "when the President included it in my name when he sent my appointment to the Senate for approval. I guess I never will get rid of it now."

"Why don't you send it down to the Anti-trust Division?" remarked a reporter; "that would end it."

Note — Until Roosevelt recently made Bob Jackson head of the Anti-trust Division, it was known as the "graveyard" of the Justice Department. Cummings' middle name is Stille.

Not Coming

Justice Hugo Black has declined an invitation to be a Gridiron Club guest at its annual dinner next month. The Gridironers will put on a skit satirizing the Alabamian's one-time Klan membership.

Whether Black knew this when he declined is not known, but as an old Washington hand he doubtless suspected he would be put on the griddle.

Historic Mistake

John L. Lewis was chatting with his friend Coal Commissioner C. C. Smith about the trials and tribulations of the Bituminous board.

"What's this I hear about you folks staffing the Bluefield (W. Va.) office with men backed by the operators?" Lewis asked.

"There isn't a thing to that story, John," replied Smith. "It's just another one of the unfounded tales going around about us."

"Well, you will admit, Clarence," Lewis said, "that the Commission has made some mistakes in personnel." Then before Smith could answer, Lewis laughingly added, "But that's only human. I guess I made the biggest mistake in the whole history of the United States."

"What was that?"

"When I supported Rush Holt for the Senate."

Note—Holt was elected chiefly through the support of the United Mine Workers. Now he has become one of the bitterest union foes in the Senate.

Produces 118,357 Pounds of Milk In Six Lactations

Illini Fobes Bess, one of the state college's prized Holstein-Friesians, has produced 118,357 pounds of milk in six lactations and will be well into her seventh lactation when she celebrates her tenth birthday, January 23. Barring misfortune, she may be able to push her lifetime production record above the 150,000 pound mark. Last year she produced 25,357 pounds of milk and 821.7 pounds of butterfat.

As worked out by staff members of the college's dairy department, the daily ration provided for Illini Fobes Bess the last year averaged 16 pounds of grain, 4½ pounds of dried molasses beet pulp, 25 pounds of corn silage, 16 pounds of hay and a very small amount of pasture in the summer.

The grain mixture is made up at the rate of 300 pounds ground corn, 370 pounds ground oats, 150 pounds wheat bran, 50 pounds brewers' dried grains, 50 pounds soybean oil meal, 50 pounds linseed oil meal, 15 pounds bone meal and 15 pounds salt.

Illini Fobes Bess is milked three times a day. She is one of a number of high-producing cows in the college herd. In her lifetime record is reflected the growing tendency of dairymen everywhere to keep production records of their cows year after year rather than for short periods only.

Illini Nellie, the famous world champion Brown Swiss cow in the college herd, has a lifetime production record of 138,734 pounds of milk. She is now in her sixth lactation.

CHICAGO BEARS TO ENJOY THEIR 1st HOMECOMING

The first homecoming for Chicago Bear players will be held Nov. 28 when the Cleveland Rams invade Wrigley Field, for the next to the last game of the National League schedule for the Chicagoans.

During the seventeen-year history of the Bears a host of great grid-ers have seen service under the Halas banner and that gentleman is hopeful that every one of them will be able to share in the "Alma Pappy" festivities.

However, if only a representative group assemblies and that at least is assured, it will be one of the most distinguished gatherings in the history of football, for who can ever forget such players as Hunk Anderson, Dr. Johnny Mohardt, Laurie Walquist, Link Lyman, Paddy Driscoll, Ed Healey, George Trafton, Don Murray, Duke Hanny, Milt Romney, Jim McMillen, Burt Ingwersen, Charlie Dressen, Joe and Dutch Sternaman, Dick Nesbit and Hugh Blacklock, just to mention a few who are expected to be on hand.

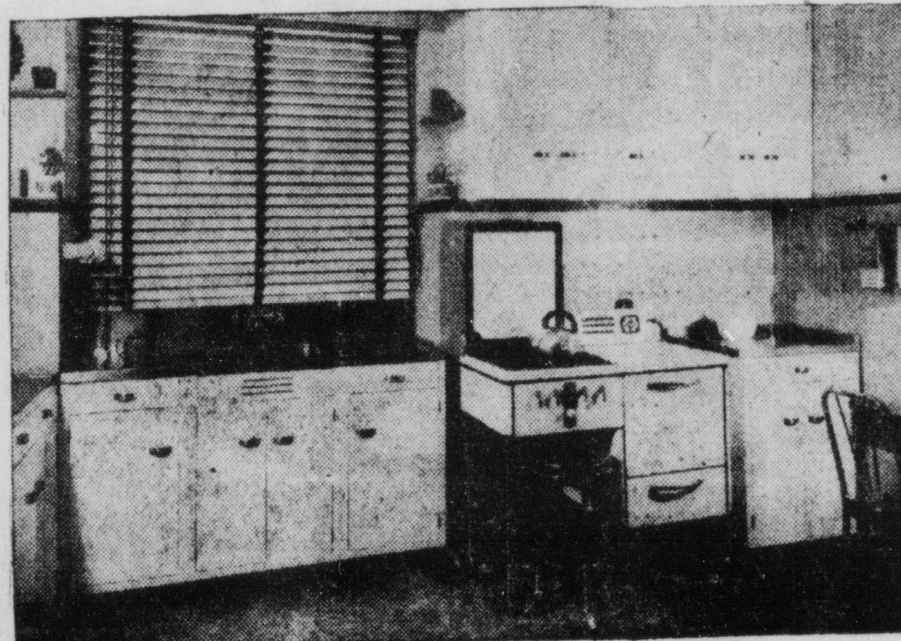

And, of course, the group will include George Halas and Red Grange.

Following the game the boys will be tendered a banquet by Mr. Halas.

LET'S TALK TURKEY

When you gather your family and friends about you on Thanksgiving Day, you want to serve them the best turkey dinner they have ever eaten. You will want a turkey that has been carefully raised, in clean surroundings, not allowed to range and run about and develop tough, hard muscles and tendons. You will want a turkey that is tender and that will cook very quickly. You will want, most of all, one that is juicy and rich in flavor, when it is taken from the oven.

All of these advantages you will have when you get a Reynoldswood Farm raised, mash-fed turkey. We selected a variety that would mature early, with broad meaty breasts. Then we raised them right — fed them the best food we could buy — and we will guarantee their flavor is absolutely right, this year.

Following the market trend, we have reduced our price to 32½ cents a pound, dressed and delivered, up to the day before Thanksgiving.

Place your order early, so we can select a fine turkey for your special dinner.

DAILY HEALTH

OUTLOOK FOR ARTHRITIS

By Iago Galdston, M. D.
Probably because arthritis is frequently referred to as a major health and economic problem, many persons have developed an exaggerated dread of the condition,
just as they have of heart disease.
But every heart derangement does not spell invalidism and the threat of sudden death, any more than every case of arthritis faces a dismal future.

The middle-aged woman, appreciably overweight and active,
who otherwise is in good health,
but whose knees, hips or spine
ache, is quite likely to be suffering from a type of arthritis comparatively easy to manage. Weight reduction, a program of lessened activity, and a few short rest periods during the day, will largely relieve her of her complaint.

The outlook may be quite different, however, when the patient is young, chronically poor in health, underweight, anemic and mal-nourished, and when several joints are involved at one time.

Such a clinical picture suggests rheumatoid arthritis, a very serious form of joint involvement. But even here the outlook is not always gloomy. The records of large arthritis clinics show that approximately a third of rheumatoid arthritis patients recover, a third improve and hold their own under competent care, and a third become more or less permanent invalids.

But this point must be borne in mind—though medicine has no specific cure for this condition, it has numerous means for relieving pain and retarding crippling. In these respects, great advances have been made in the treatment of arthritis.

But to gain the full benefits of such treatment the patient must fully cooperate with his physician.
The condition being chronic, it is not always easy for the sufferer to "stick to treatment."

PLANNED ECONOMY FOR FISH
Buffalo, Wyo.—(AP)—There will be no more privacy in Wyoming's fish and streams than in a gold fish bowl.

The United States government has decided it is about time the fish had a program of "planned economy."

So the U. S. bureau of fisheries and the Wyoming game and fish department are seeking information on the feeding, breeding and fighting habits of all the fish that live in Wyoming.

The purpose is to determine what types of fish are best suited to the various streams and lakes, what fish should live where and in what numbers. And of course the fish experts hope to improve the fishing.

Special nets are used for trapping fish at different lake and stream levels. The nets are constructed so that they catch the fish behind the gills without harming them.

News of Interest to Community Farmers

Chats About Folks and Farming

By H. G. REMINGTON,
Farm Editor

The first in a series of five community meetings sponsored by the Lamolite and Clarion township Farm and Home Bureaus was held last week in the Community hall at Lamolite. Mrs. Arthur Wendell talked on meat preservation and Gilbert Truckenbrod led a discussion on cold storage locker systems. There is some sentiment in the community favorable to a locker plant at some convenient point. Mrs. Alvin Ehlers was in charge of the recreational program and community singing was led by Warren Mercer. Refreshments were served.

Harold Swege, near Earlville, has purchased the 120-acre farm in the vicinity of Ashton, formerly known as the Paul Kreis farm and more recently owned by the Yenchich brothers. The purchase price is said to have been $145 an acre.

The Bureau county Junior Farm and Home club had a successful meeting in the Farm Bureau auditorium at Princeton last Tuesday night. Two group discussions featured the program. The girls discussed "Personality in Vocation" and the boys "The County Farm Bureau Program." Doris Dreman was in charge of the entertainment program.

The Future Farmers chapter of Stillman Valley plans a trip to the International Live Stock Exposition on Saturday, December 4. Eugene Fridley is president of the chapter; Mervin Yetter, vice president; Roy McCracken, secretary - treasurer, and James Reever, reporter.

Prize winnings of Amboy as students who exhibited at the F. F. A. sectional grain and poultry show at Sterling totaled $40. Names of the Amboy winners appeared in The Telegraph last Wednesday.

A field of 100 acres of open-pollinated corn on the Dr. John Hughes farm south of Amboy is running about 50 bushels to the acre, according to John Roloff. Hybrid corn on the Otto Boehle farm northwest of Amboy has run from 55 to 60 bushels an acre.

The annual meeting of the Bureau County Protective association, organized a little more than a year ago with the objective of halting thievery in rural sections of the county, will take place December 2 in the auditorium of the high school at Princeton. Every township in the county is represented in the roster of 700 members, and it is planned to extend the membership drive to include 1,000 to 1,500 farmers. The association has had full co-operation of the sheriff's office and its alertness undoubtedly has reduced live stock and other farm thefts to a minimum.

Turkey raising in the United States is a 50-million dollar industry. Scientific findings about proper feeding and control of diseases have been largely responsible for the growth of the turkey industry.

The Illinois State Vegetable Growers' association will meet at Aurora November 30 to December 2.

The Future Farmers' chapter of the De Kalb high school held its annual banquet Thursday evening, November 18. Fathers of the boys were guests. The sectional grain and corn show was held Saturday.

4-H club work in De Kalb county was finished for the season with the annual corn show November 17 and 18. Prizes were donated by De Kalb business men.

Farley & Stephonich of Marion township are trucking large quantities of corn to Wisconsin.

The Reinhart-Schoemaker firm of Eldena is constructing a large barn on the Miller farm in Marion township.

Thomas Halligan, Jr., well known in Marion township, is convalescing at the John Puding home at Amboy.

Mrs. W. Schellhouse of Shabona is the champion woman corn picker of De Kalb county. She won the crown in competition with several women at a county contest held last week at the Jake Berkes farm north of Maple Park, scene of the Illinois state corn husking match last year. Mrs. Schellhouse husked 8.32 bushels in 30 minutes. Runner up was Mrs. Jake Berkes with 8.1 bushels.

Richard Schultz's herd of 10 grade and purebred Jerseys carried off top honors in October tests of herds owned by members of the Whiteside County Dairy Herd Improvement association, the average being 761 pounds of milk and 35.9 pounds of fat. The herd of six grade Jerseys owned by James B.

Stroup ranked second with 595.5 pounds of milk and 33.9 pounds of fat. A purebred Holstein owned by Pettit & Mohrman was high cow with 1,814 pounds of milk and 69 pounds of butterfat.

Milk producers around Kewanee, Henry county, are organizing a milk price bargaining co-operative, according to the Illinois Agricultural association.

Rochelle, Oregon and Mt. Morris hatcheries again are sponsoring their annual "cockerel day" at the Chana stock sale pavilion today. This event has proved of interest in former years to flock owners desiring to buy, trade or sell cockerels.

Ralph Milligan of Kings, Ogle county, is among the farm youth entering baby beavers at the International Live Stock Exposition at Chicago. He has been successful with exhibits at a number of shows this fall.

Lydia Heath, Ogle county, and Wilma Patterson, Whiteside county, were among 4-H club state champions this year in advanced clothing projects.

Red flint corn still is grown in some parts of the corn belt. Mrs. Catherine Orient, Painesville, Ohio, produced two and a half acres of red corn this fall.

Cream producers who have maintained their herds during the recent period of high feed prices now have an opportunity to cash in on a favorable feed-butterfat ratio in the opinion of Frank A. Gouglier, produce marketing director of the Illinois Agricultural association. He points out there is a shortage of fluid milk and butterfat and production may not meet demands until after 1938.

Farmers planning to remain overnight at Springfield during the annual meeting of the Illinois Agricultural association January 26, 27 and 28 are being asked to notify the Farm Bureau at Amboy in order that sleeping accommodations may be provided. Nearly all hotel rooms at Springfield have been reserved for the meeting, but the committee in charge promises to find sleeping accommodations for all who wish to attend.

LeRoy Chandler, Walnut farmer, is recovering in a Princeton hospital from injuries sustained when operating a mechanical corn picker. His clothing caught and bones in his ankle were fractured when his leg was pulled into the machine.

J. W. Robbins, who operates the Brayton fruit farms at Mt. Morris, reports that this year's apple crop has been the largest since 1926, and that there has been a steady demand all fall. Many northern Illinois residents have obtained their winter apples at the Brayton farm during the last 40 years. The half-bushel basket has been a popular seller this fall.

Ogle county communities last week completed organization of committees to handle the 1938 agricultural conservation program in the different townships. The township organizations in Lee county will be completed Monday.

The Illinois division of highways has granted a two weeks' extension to permit truck owners to install signals on their vehicles to clearly indicate intentions to turn or stop. State police had planned to begin enforcement of the law November 15, but because of the extension will defer enforcement until December 1. Mechanical signals will be required on all vehicles which are so constructed that arm signals are not visible to traffic both in the front and at the rear.

An arctic snow owl was captured in the chicken yard on the Jesse Morris farm near Mendota. The bird had a wing spread of four feet and nine inches.

The eighteenth annual meeting of the Wisconsin Farm Bureau Federation, opening yesterday at Madison, will hear E. O. O'Neal, president of the American Farm Bureau Federation, at a banquet tonight. This marks the close of the annual meeting.

Fifty-nine persons attended a banquet sponsored Wednesday night by the Byron chapter of the F. F. A. The next meeting is set for December 7.

COLD STORAGE AVAILABLE TO ALL OGLE COUNTY

Farm Bureau is Ready To Aid Communities With This Service

Cold storage locker service will be made available by the Ogle county Farm Bureau to any community in the county that desires to organize for this service, bureau officials announced today. A committee appointed by President L. M. Gentry of the bureau, consisting of C. C. Davis of Polo, John D. Coffman of Polo and George Diehl of Mt. Morris, is compiling information on this project and will give assistance to any community where enough interest is shown and enough lockers can be rented to establish a plant.

The organization will be co-operative, organized under the Illinois Agricultural co-operative act. Class A stock bearing up to 6 per cent interest will be sold for the construction of storage plants, and lockers will probably be rented at $12 a year. The Polo and Mt. Morris communities are already at work getting organized to build storage plants. The service will provide for rapid freezing and storage of meats, also fruits and vegetables in a frozen condition so that they may be available at any time for use in a fresh condition. This method of keeping meat is much less work and much more satisfactory than canning. Demand for such service is rapidly spreading over Illinois. Many of the county Farm Bureaus are sponsoring similar projects.

The Polo committee has been selling stock the last few weeks and the Mt. Morris committee, appointed by Edward L. Stengel, township chairman, began its work yesterday following a breakfast meeting at Mt. Morris. This committee includes the following: Charles Gibbs and Charles Zumdahl, Maple Grove; George Diehl, Rev. N. A. Bolinger, G. M. Moats and Carl Snodgrass, Mt. Morris; Walter Haney and Tom Snodgrass, Rockvale; Merritt Middlekauff and Cloyd Pieper, Victory; Robert Fridley and Harry Baker, Pine Creek; C. C. Lowell, Merritt Felker and Elmer Borneman, Leaf River; Irving Zumdahl and Irvin Zumdahl, Center; Charles Thomas and Floyd Potter, Fairview; Walter Horst and Matthew Watson, Cedar Bluff; Harvey Newcomer and Harvey Floto, Cook Creek; Charles Floto and Charles Horst, New Junction, and Charles Stengel and Harold Middlekauff, Stonebraker.

Building operations at Mt. Morris are planned after 225 lockers have been rented. The project is to be financed with 400 shares of stock offered at $25 per share.

MARY RICHARDSON, 20, near Springfield, has earned the Illinois 4-H championship in food preservation on a seven-year record in which she canned 219 pints of fruits, vegetables, and meats. She gave four public demonstrations and entered three judging contests, winning first in the county and third in the state in 1937. The value of all products used at home is $75.50, and prizes on 55 exhibits are $12.20. She receives an all-expense trip to the 16th National Club Congress in Chicago, Nov. 26-Dec. 4, and will vie with other Central State champions for sectional honors and a $200 scholarship which is provided for other prizes by the Kerr Glass Corporation. If successful she will compete for an additional $200 which goes to the National champion.

FRANK PRIEBE'S WEEKLY LETTER TO POULTRY RAISERS

On the same day that we had our first big snow in the Middle West, I had a telegram from a man in Boston saying the egg market there had dropped 9 cents that week.

It wasn't long ago that the Middle West supplied the entire country with eggs. So when cold weather knocked our hens out of production, the market automatically went up, because people couldn't get eggs any place else.

But now they can. In the first place people began raising chickens out on the Pacific coast. They did a good job. And now people on the Atlantic coast seem to be doing an even better job—not only from a production standpoint but from a political standpoint.

Eastern Egg Laws

Just take a look at the egg laws of some of these eastern states: Any eggs produced outside the state of Florida must be labeled SHIPPED, regardless of how good their quality is. You can imagine the reaction when they are offered in competition with locally produced eggs advertised as Florida eggs.

All eggs sold in Georgia which have been produced outside the state must have printed on the shell of each one, in letters not less than one-fourth inch high, in indelible ink, the word "shipped." And any eggs subjected to artificial refrigeration for any length of time whatsoever must have stamped on the shell of each egg the word storage, regardless of how good their quality may be. Massachusetts, New Hampshire, Connecticut—in fact, practically all eastern states refuse to allow any egg to be sold as "fresh" which has an air cell over a quarter of an inch deep.

Producers Are Protected

Naturally, the effect of all this legislation is to put Middle Western eggs at a disadvantage. In many cases the discrimination is made not on quality, but only on geography!

In such instances it is evident that the purpose of the legislation is not to protect the consumer, but to protect the eastern producers against competition from Middle Western poultry raisers.

The secretaries of agriculture in a number of Middle Western states have pointed out to officials in Florida that it is poor business to discriminate against poultry raisers in this part of the country inasmuch as they like to sell us their oranges!

I think so, too!

SOIL OFFICIALS ARE NAMED FOR 12 TOWNSHIPS

County Group to Perfect Organization Soon At Amboy

Thirteen townships of Lee county Monday had elected their community committees to have charge of the 1938 agricultural conservation program and the remaining townships will elect their conservation committees within this week.

Personnel of the committees already chosen follows, the first named being chairman, the second vice chairman and the two last named in each township being alternates:

Alto—Clifford Kittleson, Morris Cook, John Ullensvang, Otto Wickness and Walter O'Donnell.

Amboy—Chauncey W. Robbins, Walter J. Morrissey, Carl H. Sartorius, Edward L. Cole and George A. King.

Bradford—William E. Taylor, Adam Gonneman, Clarence Hart, Vernon Schnell and G. C. Salzman. Brooklyn—Don Gilmore, John Gailisath, Grover Carnahan and Gustav Engelhardt. (One alternate yet to be named.)

Others Named
Lee Center—August T. Bohn, Ormand Baylor, Henry C. Essner, George F. Gehant and Arthur Burkhart.

East Grove—William Dulen, Floyd Willey, John McCoy, James Sharkey and John McFadden. Nachusa—Harry E. Currens, Wesley Heckman, Lee R. Fisel and Clark Young.

Nelson—Roy W. Scholl, L. G. Meppin, Roy Ransom, Roy McCleary and Howard Sweitzer.

Palmira—Jesse L. Syvits, John I. Sheaffer, Frank Beede, Frank Scholl and Ray E. Gilbert.

Reynolds—John Ewald, Hugh O'Rourke, John Warner, Henry Klenke and Clarence Schafer.

Sublette—Joe W. Kuehna, George Scheneman, Gus Bauer, Gilbert Malach and Walter F. Erbes.

Wyoming—Dale D. Rosenkrans, Robert S. Tarr, August Schlesinger, Carl Rosenkrans and C. J. Politsch.

Committee elections were scheduled last night in Dixon and Viola townships. South township held its election yesterday afternoon, naming the following committee: Leon A. Garrison, T. R. Hintz, Charles C. Coleman, Leon Burkett and E. L. Gerdes.

To Organize at Amboy
Other townships will hold their meetings to name committees as follows: Tonight at 7:45 o'clock—Ashton, town hall; China, town hall at Franklin Grove; Wednesday, November 24, Marion, Catholic hall at Walton; Wyoming, Community hall at Paw Paw; Monday, November 29, Hamilton, town hall; Harmon, Farmers' elevator at Harmon. The Hamilton township meeting is at 1:30 p. m. and all other meetings are at 7:45 p. m.

As soon as the different townships have perfected their organizations a two-day meeting will be arranged at Amboy to organize the county committee. Chairmen of the township groups are directors of the county committee. On the first day of the Amboy meetings they will elect officers and perfect organization of the county committee. In the afternoon of the first day there will be a school for the directors. The second day's meeting will be in the nature of a school for all committee members to acquaint them with details of the 1938 conservation program. Dates of the Amboy meetings have not been announced.

VISIBLE GRAIN SUPPLY

New York, Nov. 23.—(AP)—The visible supply of American grain shows the following changes (in bushels): Wheat decreased 4,352,000; corn increased 4,900,000; oats decreased 296,000; rye decreased 109,000; barley increased 241,000.

In 1887, a few skylarks imported from England made an effort to establish themselves on Long Island, in what now is the city of Brooklyn. One nest containing young was found there, and another was found almost 10 years later.

D. H. S. Chapter

By Delbert Shore, Reporter

The Dixon chapter of the Future Farmers of America held its second meeting of the year in the high school cafeteria on Thursday, November 18. We had a short program with Fred Benson as the principal speaker. He discussed "Your Seed," dealing with the next year's planting of seed corn. He stressed the care and selection of hybrid seed corn. As a salesman for the W. F. Black Farms at Walnut he has had considerable experience. We also had a visitor Orlando Spangler, another salesman from the same company.

There is a possibility that the place for holding the sectional vocational fair may be changed. The section has become so large that chapters in some cities in the section are too far away from the place of exhibition. No definite selection of a location has been made up to this time. The fair was held at Oregon this year.

At the last meeting of the F.F.A. Glenn Heckman gave a report on the annual meeting of delegates of this section at the Pines state park. It is proposed that a public speaking contest be held the last Friday of April and that a baseball tournament be arranged for next spring.

The date for the father and son banquet has been set for Saturday night, December 11. The home economics girls under the supervision of Miss White will prepare the food to be furnished by the boys. Invitations are being sent to all the alumni for this affair.

Northern Illinois Officials Discuss Corn Loan Here

Members of the warehouse boards, sealers and farm advisers of northern Illinois counties were scheduled to meet late today in the court house at Dixon to receive final instructions concerning the loan on the 1937 corn crop in Illinois. It was indicated in early advice that loans of 50 cents a bushel on corn would be available shortly after December 1. Full details concerning the method of handling the loans and the sealing of corn were to be announced following the Dixon meeting, it was said. The meeting was not to be open to the general public. Lee county was to be represented at the meeting by Farm Adviser C. E. Yale, Peter Hoyt, Otto Boehle, George Thier and J. M. Keay, members of the warehouse board, and C. P. Heaton, J. J. Dunn and Fred Conrad, sealers.

4-H Clubbers of Ogle County Win State Recognition

Three Ogle county 4-H club members were given special state recognition by the state committee for work done during the 1937 season. Lydia J. Heath of the Dement Tip-Top club was awarded a state championship in her clothing project; Floyd Coffman of the Adeline 4-H club was given honorable mention in the pig project, and John Williams of the Northeast Ogle club was given honorable mention as an outstanding club member. John carried a corn project and also was awarded a medal in the Wilson meat animal project. These awards were announced by E. I. Pilchard and

County Rat Drive Launched Monday In all Townships

Lee county's big countywide drive against the rat menace opened late yesterday with some 500 rural and urban residents participating in the drive. Runways of the rodents on many farms and in village yards were baited around sundown Monday, the zero hour for the attack, and army headquarters in the Farm Bureau office at Amboy began receiving reports of the casualties today. It may be a day or two before an estimate of the number of rodents poisoned in the drive can be made, but Farm Adviser C. E. Yale said he is confident the rat population has been reduced materially. The biological survey of the federal department of agriculture co-operated in the rat campaign. Poison bait was mixed and packed throughout Saturday and sent to distribution stations in every township of the county, where it was obtainable at nominal cost by the residents. All were asked to bait the runways at about the same time so that rodents running from place to place would always find an opportunity to sit in the bait. In a few areas a second baiting is planned late today.

Ogle Co. Passes One-Third Mark In Bureau Drive

More than one-third of the membership goal of 350 for the proposed Home Bureau organization in Ogle county has been signed, according to reports given at a recent meeting of homemakers at Oregon. Mrs. W. P. Haney presided and Mrs. Elsie Ross Butler of the home economics extension service of the University of Illinois, who has been assisting in the Home Bureau organization work in the county, was present to answer questions concerning the organization. Talks were given by Mrs. Simpson, Mrs. Potts, Mrs. Zigler and Mrs. Wade, all members of the Home Bureau of Whiteside county, who related their experiences in the work. Another membership report meeting will be held at Oregon Thursday, December 2.

Bureau Co. Soil Groups Are Named

Personnel of community committees to direct the 1938 soil conservation program in Bureau county was selected at township meetings held last week. Among the township committees are the following:

Princeton—Irving H. Phillips, James D. Milliken, Roy F. Nelson, Elmer S. Carlson, Frank J. Simon, Walnut—Vernon R. Wheaton, Elmer W. Schoff, Wayne T. Johnson, Orin Johnson, Albert Wangelin.

Ohio—Melvin Carey, Louis F. Minkler, Roy E. Nordene, J. C. Sweitzer, Harold F. Ackerman.

The first named of each committee is the chairman. All of the community chairmen will serve as directors of the Bureau County Agricultural Conservation association during the coming year. This association held its reorganization meeting at Princeton yesterday.

SOIL PAYMENTS IN LEE COUNTY TO BE $150,000

Checks to be Used for Farm and Home Betterments

Lee county farmers who participated in the federal agricultural conservation program this year will receive checks for a total of more than $150,000 as a reward for performance, according to present estimates. Early this year Lee county farmers who had complied with requirements of the 1936 soil program received checks totalling about $225,000.

J. M. Keay, secretary of the Lee County Agricultural Conservation association, said less participation this year and failure of soil-building legumes by reason of adverse weather conditions, are the chief factors responsible for the reduction in soil payments in the 1937 program.

Mr. Keay was unwilling to predict when the checks will be received for Lee county farmers. In some sections of Illinois the field work in connection with the soil program has been completed, and farm leaders in those areas are anticipating that farmers who complied with the program will begin receiving their checks late in December.

In Lee county the field men have finished checking of performance only in twelve townships and field work in the ten remaining townships must be completed before the procedure for the issuance of checks may be completed. The state office has to approve reports of performance and issuance of checks and delay in checking performance means the holding up of checks.

Participating farmers, however, consider the prospective checks as money in the bank and the proceeds of this year's soil program undoubtedly will prove a stimulus to pre-holiday buying. A large amount of the Lee county soil payments for 1936 were spent by farmers for both farm and home betterments.

Much of the $225,000 was spent for farm machinery and for home appliances such as washers, ironers, refrigerators, radios, etc., and it is believed that a similar program of spending will be the result of this year's receipts for soil betterment work. Farm and Home Bureau programs during the last year have stressed improved farm living as one of the goals of agriculture today, and each year sees more farm homes adding the appliances that make them every bit as convenient as the homes of city dwellers.

Of the 10,000 insects destroyed by each load annually, about 16 per cent will be cutworms, and counting each cutworm's annual damage at the low figure of 1 cent, each load would be worth about $20 for this service alone.

ROADSIDE DEBATE

u It's okeh, boys, grown and snarl at each other. Remember, the best defense is a good offense, so just keep on giving each other "the works." These two gents act as if the caution light was the signal to throw caution to the four winds. Better to wait until the green light actually flashes before starting across the highway. It's tough on your blood pressure to make yourself fly into a rage just to lead the other fellow to think that after all it's his fault, not yours.

Dr. and Mrs. F. E. Inks and daughter Dorothy of Princeton, and their guest, Mrs. Hortense Smith Brock of Oakland, Calif., went to Freeport Sunday to attend a family reunion at the Morris Smith home.

Answer to Question No. 1—

1. I, Judge Larry is not a biologist. If his Dad had kept a hot dog stand all his life Larry would be just as big and strong as his is. If "acquired characters" in this sense—that is, if the effects of exercise, such as playing the piano, shoveling, swimming, dancing, thinking hard, etc., by the parents, cause these characteristics to be stronger in the children, science has been unable to discover it. In the famous saying of biologist Konklin, "Wooden legs are not inherited, but wooden heads are." Larry evidently inherited both good legs and a good head but they probably came from his ancestors prior to his father and mother. Parents merely carry on the line but cannot alter their germ cells.

Answer to Question No. 2—

2. So the Preudians claim and there is probably some truth in it.

Inventory Your Personality

Knowledge of your Emotional and Personality traits is of great value to you. Dr. Wiggam has persuaded one of America's greatest Universalists to permit the offer of the Personality Schedule used by it in determining personality strengths and weaknesses of college students. ABANDON OLD CUSTOM

Dublin—(AP)—If King George
VI wants a woodcock pie this Christmas, he will have to send out and buy one.

The King's ancestors used to get
"four and twenty woodcocks baked in a pie" each year—for more than 100 years from the governor general of Ireland.

When Ireland was split into the Irish Free State and Northern Ireland, the practice was stopped.

Every year thereafter officials hoped the custom would be revived, but now that the Irish Free State has a president and seeks to cut away from every English custom, officials fear the annual pie ceremony is finished.

Georgia includes 10,000 more square miles than does the state of New York.

FROM DEPOT
TO DICTATOR

MIGHTY ruler of a little state is swarthy Rafael Leonidas
Trujillo, who shortly rounds out his eighth year as dictator of the Dominican Republic. His enemies charge he is despotic, enriching himself at the hands of the people. And the people invariably return him to office.

Tall, sturdy, bemedaled, trained in the military manners of the Marines, Trujillo rose to his high office from the humble post of railroad telegraph operator. He is now only 39. And his wealth is estimated at several millions of dollars.

He began Trujillo rules strictly by banishing all opposition.
Then he proclaimed an era of "peace and order." Three years ago when his first four-year term ended his party hailed him as the savior of the country and urged his citation for the Nobel Peace prize because of his efforts in settling the old and bitter
Haitian boundary dispute.

He was re-elected on a motto,
"God and Trujillo," showered with honorary degrees, his name given to the country's principal highway. Earlier he had induced his Congress to rename the capital,
Santo Domingo, Ciudad Trujillo

(Trujillo City). It is so named today.

CAST OF CHARACTERS

ROBERT BARRY—hero, explorer.
WELISSA LANE—heroine,
Barry's partner.
HONEY BEE GIRL—Indian;
member of Barry's party.
HADES JONES—pioneer; member Barry's party.

Yesterday, Bob begins his exploration of Defiance Castle, drops down over the overhanging cliff and is unable to get back again!
He must do something quickly.

CHAPTER V

To the three people below, Robert Barry looked like a toy doll, a puppet, dangling on the end of the rope stretching 600 feet or more above them.

"What in tarnation's he tryin' to do?" shrieked Hades Jones. Hades was jumping around and chattering more excitedly than either of the two girls. Mary Melissa looked enthralled.

"Oh, I don't know! It's awful. Mr. Jones. Can't you make him stop? Is it necessary to risk his life this way?"

Bob was going through some sort of queer contortions now. He appeared to have looped the rope around his foot, and to be starting a motion of "pumping" as a boy would do in a swing.

But he gathered momentum slowly. He seemed first to swing the wrong way—parallel to the cliff dwelling ledge, rather than toward it, and he had to slow down, then start anew.

He stopped and heaved, struggling for the pendulum motion again. The arc of his swing grew slowly—in-out, in-and-out—to a point from the red rock. The cliff was so jagged and rough that it appalled Mary Melissa to think of what might happen. In her semi-hysteria she envisioned her business partner slipping, striking the rock and sliding down its steep slope.

The great cliff in which Defiance Castle nestled was really a concave surface, overhanging at the top and curving quickly inward to the "mouth" or cave which had been chosen as a home site by the ancient builders. Below this niche, which was big enough to hold a three-story building, the granite-like wall curved gently outward again, progressing in drops of 20 to 30 feet, broken by vicious-looking points and knobs. Occasional scrubby gnarled plants clung precariously to the wall, although where they found soil for sustenance was a mystery.

On the day when they first saw the cliff, Mary Melissa had commented that it was a fine, theatrical backdrop for a great drama. The ancients had farmed the flat valley, where this modern exploration party had set up camp. The ancients must have known work and danger and love and excitement and happiness and death centuries ago. The life drama of a kingdom!

The white girl thought of this in a flash again, and instantly realized that she was seeing another dramatic moment here. Only this one was not in retrospect, not for calm historical study. It was tremendously near and real.

She strained to see Bob Barry. The arc of his swing was incredibly large now. And he was still "pumping."

Suddenly she knew his plan. She realized what he hoped to do. "No! Oh no!" She breathed it, almost as a prayer. The distance seemed much too great.

In that instant, Mary Melissa knew that it mattered terribly.

SHE knew that it mattered to her, personally, and irrevocably. She didn't phrase it, even to herself, as love. But she knew. The tightening within her heart, was keener than it would have been if she saw a casual acquaintance in danger.

In the latter circumstance, she would have screamed. She might have run, and shouted advice, anything in her high alarm. But—this feeling was different. Deeper, somehow. In the strain of the moment she touched something divine—and prayed to it, mumbled her petitions without restraint or shame.

More given to physical action in such emergencies, old Hades Jones had abruptly disappeared, running. Frankly, he had no idea what he would accomplish, but he hastened toward the trees at the foot of the great cliff. At least he would be on hand when Bob Barry fell.

Honey Bee Girl, being of a less demonstrative race anyway, had uttered no words. She just waited. But what of Scott Holliman—he who had accompanied Bob to the cliff top and let down the rope?

It hadn't taken his employer long to disappear over the edge of the cliff. Holliman had warned him to be careful, but in Bob Barry was the supreme confidence of young physical strength.

Holliman could see nothing after Bob disappeared. The rim curved precariously for six or eight feet before the edge was reached, and he dared not try to peer over at Bob. He had just let the rope out slowly as instructed, then held it, snubbed, when it was almost gone.

It occurred to him that he hadn't been told when to pull his boss back up. He wasn't sure he could pull him back anyway. The cliff edge was of sharp jagged rock. It would cut into the rope, maybe sever it.

This thought suddenly startled Holliman.

He made sure that his end of the rope was tied, then went as close to the edge as he dared.

"Mr. Barry?" he called.

No answer. Holliman yelled it, but still got no reply. Then he, too, realized that the wind was whipping the sound away. Sudden alarm struck him. He couldn't see Barry, nor communicate with him.

He did peer over far enough to see Hades Jones running. And the two women were moving about and pointing up. But he was unable to deduce anything from that.

He noticed motion in the rope, and quickly grabbed it.

There were slight regular jerks for a bit. Then a swaying pull, first right then left. In alarm he looked at the rocky edge where the rope disappeared. The fiber was indeed beginning to fray!

Holliman strained to pull it up to a fresh spot, lest it be sawed apart. But Barry was a heavy man, and friction at the rock was too great. "Good Lord!" Holliman growled, genuinely alarmed now. He looked desperately around him.

The man felt peculiarly helpless. He did quickly decide to let out a few inches more of rope—there wasn't very much left—and so put a fresh place on the sharp rock edge. That lessened one danger, he felt.

He shouted again and again, but no answer. The alternate tightening of the rope indicated a swinging or swaying. Holliman's alarm mounted.

Then suddenly the rope slack-ened. Holliman fell back prone with the sudden give of it. He held it then, limp in his hands, and stared at it.

"Uhhnnnnh!" he literally groaned in despair, pulling the loose rope up a few feet. Quickly he turned to go back toward their horses.

Modern Pioneers to Re-enact 3000-Mile Trek

Pioneer plasmen thought their journeys hazardous, but how about the dangers of waiving autos and carbon monoxide fumes which will confront 36 doughy "modern pioneers" when they accompany the covered wagon and ox team, shown above in a re-enactment of the 3000-mile trek of Northwest Territory settlers from Ipswich, Mass., to Marietta, O., and through the other five states of the Northwest Territory? Dressed in coonskin cap, leather clothing and carrying powder horns, the members of the 1937 caravan will be on the road several months, starting Dec. 3. Their wagon is an exact duplicate of the Conestoga wagons used by the original caravan. Some of the iron parts are even from the early caravan vehicles.

WRECK THAT OUGHT TO PLEASE CHINESE

Captain Frank P. Kelly sits disconsolately on the breakwater and gazes at his overturned barge in the middle of the Passaic River near Belleville, N. J. Although Kelly grieves, he's likely to find little sympathy among the Chinese, for the barge carried scrap iron destined for Japanese munitions plants.

JAP-CONQUERED MONGOL NATION IS NEW TO MAP

Two Provinces Have Few Permanent Settlements

The two provinces Chahar and Suiyuan, which the Japanese recently declared would constitute a so-called new Mongol nation, headed by Mongol Prince Teh, have long been important strategically as a "wall" against Mongol encroachment in North China, according to a bulletin from the Washington, D. C., headquarters of the National Geographic Society.

"Warfare and political upheavals are not new to the two provinces," says the bulletin. "Both have long been hotly contested areas with Chinese farmers and hard-riding nomads frequently clashing to test their strength in domination."

Dust Storms Have Discouraged Farmers

"Except for clusters of mud huts, Chahar has few permanent settlements. On the eastern border is the trading town of Tolunoorh (Dolon Nor). In the south of the province, and not included in the new Mongol nation, is the province's chief city, Kalgan. Because a railroad links it with Peiping, Tientsin, and Hankow, and because it is the hub of caravan routes spreading northwestward, touching important trading centers of Inner and Outer Mongolia and southern Siberia, the city bears a name derived from an old Mongol word, khalagan, meaning 'gateway.' Here Mongols unloaded furs brought on camel-back over deserts and snow-covered mountains, and with their pay, purchase brick-tea, tobacco, and bright-colored cotton robes."

"In Suiyuan, Chinese farmers have not fared as well as in Chahar. Situated where Mongolia's vast arid plateau meets the more fertile lands of China, Suiyuan has, like the United States, its 'dust bowl.' Where grazing land has been ploughed into farm land, dust storms blow away the fertile top soil, forcing Chinese farmers to retreat. Intermittent wars, droughts, and severe winters have also done much to discourage them."

"From Kweisui (Kweihwa), Suiyuan's capital, an ancient caravan trail runs northwest to Outer Mongolia, climbing, only a short dis-

From the city, on to the Mongolian plateau. There, on land uncontested by Chinese farmers, Mongol herdsman still wander with their flocks and herds, living much as they did when the Mongol conqueror, Genghis Khan, was in his glory seven centuries ago.

"In Suiyuan, the Mongols still reverence the name of Genghis Khan, and display his picture in their felt tents. One of the first acts of the new Mongolian nation has been to change the calendar to one dating from the era of Genghis Khan."

Farmers Crowded Out Herdsmen

"Under Manchu rulers who did not favor Chinese colonization, the nomads drove their herds of camels and flocks of sheep over the windswept prairies of Chahar and Suiyuan unmolested, pitching their felt tents wherever they found good grazing."

"But in the last half century overcrowded Chinese farmers with the Great Wall cast covetous eyes of Inner Mongolia's rich grass country. They swarmed into fertile southern Chahar in a belt about 12 miles wide, opening farm lands and introducing dairy herds. On rich areas of loess, they planted grains and vegetables. Nine years ago the nomads' traditional grazing ground was made a province of the Chinese Republic, and they were driven north into regions of thinner grass, and finally into almost barren wastes. Only in the northern third of Chahar Province, inhospitable to farmers, were they left undisturbed. Some of them, forced to give up their herding, turned bandits."

Illinois Tops in Land Value Rise Last Four Years

Urbana, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—Illinois led all other states in increased farm land values during the last four years. C. L. Stewart, chief in land economics of the University of Illinois college of agriculture, wrote in the current issue of the Analyst.

He said farm land values in this state increased $579,000,000. Iowa was second with a gain of $551,000,000; Texas third with $468,000,000. Other states in order, based on reports of the federal bureau of census and department of agriculture included Ohio, California, Indiana and North Carolina.

Prof. Stewart said nation-wide increase of land values was five billion dollars, a jump from 30 to 35 billion dollars. The average acre value was estimated at $29 in 1933, $31 in 1931 and $34 in 1937.

URGES WAYS FOR LASTING HELP TO BANKING SYSTEM

Chairman Addresses the Third Annual Conference on Banking Today

Champaign, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—Chairman Leo T. Crowley of the Federal Deposit Insurance corporation, urged today eight steps for "permanent strengthening of our banking system."

In an address prepared for delivery before the third annual conference on banking at the University of Illinois, Crowley called for:

1. More private local capital; 2. Minimum operating standards for all insured banks; 3. Conservatism on the part of bankers; 4. Supervision of thrift and loan institutions other than banks; 5. Reduction of banks' speculation; 6. Realization of bankers' true responsibilities; 7. Bigger reserves, and 8. Sound capital.

Calling movement of private capital into banks "long past due," Crowley said "continuous government participation in ownership of the country's banks is inconsistent with the theory and practice of private capitalism."

Conceding "Conservatism"

Conceding the "traditional conservatism" of bankers has made them the object of many jokes, Crowley nevertheless called the trait "precisely what the vast majority of bank customers look for and admire and trust."

Criticizing bankers who seek profit through speculation, Crowley stated the order of a banker's responsibilities as "first, to his depositors; second, to his stockholders, and third, to his borrowers."

"It is imperative," Crowley said, "that each insured bank maintain a sound capital sufficient to absorb shocks to which it may be subjected."

Mob Psychology Rules

James M. Barker, vice-president of Sears Roebuck & Co., told the bankers mob psychology had replaced local emotions and had become an important economic factor in speeding depression, prosperity, or the business cycle.

Where once national opinion was a composite of many local opinions, he said, today it often has a common source on Wall street, in Washington, or at some other common center—because of modern rapid communication which permits millions of people to "grasp an idea simultaneously."

HALFWAY TAVERN, LINCOLN'S HAVEN BEING RECLAIMED

Salem, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—The Halfway tavern, one of the state's pioneer but long-neglected landmarks, is being reclaimed by a private citizen and may be surrounded soon by a public park.

Motorists whiz by on route 50 without a glance at the two-story log cabin, where Abraham Lincoln dined and slept, and where stage coaches paused to rest and refresh horses and travelers.

The tavern was built in 1818—the year Illinois was admitted to the union—just halfway between Vincennes, Ind., and St. Louis along the old trail which George Rogers Clark and his hardy band of explorers first traveled in the eighteenth century.

The old cabin and the adjoining sleeping rooms and stables were

'All in the House'

Chicago, Nov. 23—(AP)—John T. Miller, former official of the Chicago sanitary district, today began serving a six months sentence in the house of correction for conspiring to defraud the district of $6,500,000 during the "whoopie era" of 1927 and 1928.

He was convicted along with Frank J. Link, a former trustee, in 1932. Link began serving a one to five year sentence in the state penitentiary Friday.

"It's all in the game of politics," Miller said yesterday when he surrendered to Deputy Sheriff William Peeney. "I expect to serve my time and pay my fine of $2,000 and get it over with."

built of thick, sturdy timber but now stand in weatherbeaten disrepair beside the heavily-traveled highway, a short distance from the little village of Luka, east of here.

But the forgotten landmark has found a champion in C. H. Neff, a notary public at Luka, who owns the land it occupies.

Under Neff's direction, workmen are replacing windows and doors and will rebuild in the caved-in roof of the addition.

Neff had planted trees and marked out driveways for a 10-acre park to surround and protect the tavern, and where motorists may pause, like the stage coaches of old, and learn this little lost portion of the state's early history.

Civil And World War Vet Observes His 91st Birthday

Sterling, Ill., Nov. 23—(AP)—Nicholas George Van Sant, claimed by his friends to be the only Civil war veteran who saw front-line action in the World war, observed his 91st birthday quietly Monday.

There was no public observance such as marked his anniversary last year.

Good eyesight enables Van Sant to read newspapers daily. A retired lawyer, Van Sant insists on "keeping posted."

Born in Rock Island, Ill., Van Sant enlisted in the 9th Illinois cavalry in 1864 at the age of 17 and saw service in Tennessee as a private. He was unable to participate in the Spanish-American war, for when he returned from Germany, where he was visiting at the outbreak of the conflict, he found the state's troop quota filled.

He was 71 when the United States entered the World war. He went across with the Salvation Army and was in the trenches throughout the summer and fall of 1918.

"I was anxious to feel once more the thrill that comes when the guns begin to shoot," he said.

GUESTS FALL IN LOVE WITH THE HOSTESS

A LACE DINNER CLOTH by SCRANTON

LINEN COLOR

$3.50

SIZE 72" x 90"

THE HOSTESS DESIGN, created by Scranton, is a lace dinner cloth that combines all the traditional qualities of a fine table covering. It is delicate and genteel. Its design is beautiful enough to be noticeable, but quiet enough to remain unobtrusive. And it is woven to endure for many years of service. Use it every day as a dinner cloth and let it grace your table between mealtimes. Laundering enhances its loveliness, though its remarkable soil resistance keeps laundry effort at a minimum.
